To the Class of 1894:

Thanks to the helpful services of the Alumni Association, the efficiency of the printer and the promptness of the Class of 1894, this Report, unlike its five predecessors, is issued upon the intended date, Commencement 1914. The office of the Alumni Association has, for a moderate consideration, had charge of the Report, gathering the material, compiling statistical lists and correcting the initial drafts of proof. The Secretary has edited the entire book and examined the final proofs. The Report aims to include at least an account of each man's career between the date of the Fifth Report, 1909, and the present time. To save space, the Secretary has occasionally wielded the blue pencil, and will be grateful for criticism from those who object to his excisions. In the matter of publications replies were so varied that it seemed best not to print now the careful lists sent in by a few members of the Class, but to reserve this material for the Report which shall commemorate our twenty-fifth anniversary. In that volume, the Secretary hopes, lists of publications will be uniform and complete. As in the previous Report, no special list of the married is given, but in the address list the letter M is affixed to the name of each married man, a device which may perhaps be of service to senders of invitations.

Since the last Report, the following deaths have been reported: Morris Baker, Robert Parkman Blake, Thomas Johnson Cushing, James Gore King Lee, James Athanasius McDonald, Percy Howland de Mauriac, Guy Metcalf, George Robinson Philbrook, Everett Clifton Roché, William Harvey Rush, James Joseph Sheppard, Henry Garrettson Spooner, Alonzo Ferdinand Travis, Andrew Henderson Whitridge. Affiliated members: Joseph William Carr, Raymond Wilbur Carr, Elliott Baird Coues, Lee Norman Farr, George Daniel Hammond, Philip Seymour Johnson, Bert Leonard Pike, Joseph Frailey Smith.

The following men now have the degree of A.B. or of S.B. as of 1914, and are therefore transferred from the list of affiliated members to that of holders of these degrees: George Lovell Burditt A.B. 1897, 1894 (1914); John Corbett A.B. 1894 (1910); Austin Phelps Dean A.B. 1899, 1894 (1914); George Byron Gordon, S.B. 1902, 1894 (1914); Ernest Linwood Walker, S.B. 1903, 1894 (1914). It has been discovered that Arthur William Hartt and Hugo Richards Johnstone were temporarily members of the Class, and they have been added to the Affiliated Members. The Secretary is sorry that they have not appeared there before. Jacob Schoen, heretofore on this list, is really a member of the Class of 1892, and is transferred to the records of that Class.

The following men are apparently lost; at least the Secretary's circulars elicit no reply and in most cases are returned: L. J. Balliett, F. H. Bloodgood, H. Bruen, D. J. Bugbee, W. B. Clymer, L. F. Culver, S. L. Forsyth, R. T. Fox, J. L. Frazeur, E. C. Green, L. M. Greenman, F. H. Holmes, W. D. Holt, C. A. Horne, C. O. Jenkins, G. S. Kebabian, J. D. Logan, M. S. Mack, H. G. Meadows, S. Miyoshi, F. C. Moulton, P. Musgrave, E. B. Niver, A. S. Richards, H. I. Richmond, M. F. Russell, E. D. Starbuck, Cushing Stetson, S. M. Sullivan, DuB. Tooker, H. C. Vrooman, G. A. Walker, G. T. Weitzel, D. W. Welch, L. B. Williams.

The Secretary is indebted to the men who have prepared the obituaries in this volume, and also for other services to Bishop, Bond, Glessner, Keller, Lakin, Tuckerman and S. M. Williams. Above all, a vote of thanks is due to that energetic Pro Tem., and true friend of the Class, George Marston Cushing. To one and all, a hearty welcome to our Vicennial!

Edward Kennard Rand.

George C. Lee, Treasurer.

Boston, Mass., April 17, 1914.

Having been appointed auditors of the accounts of George A. Gray, Esqr., Treasurer of the Class of 1894 for the period from June 30, 1909, to November 13, 1909, and of the accounts of George C. Lee, Esqr., Treasurer of the Class of 1894 for the period from November 13, 1909, to March 31, 1914, we report that we have examined said treasurers' accounts, vouchers, and securities, and have found them to be correct and as above stated.

Elias B. Bishop,
George M. Cushing,
Auditing Committee.

Class of 1894

A superior numeral 2, 3, or 4, printed before a name, indicates entrance to the Class in the corresponding college year out of course. A superior 5 indicates a member of the Graduate Department who took the degree of A.B. with the Class. An italic letter of a, b, c or d, printed after a name, indicates withdrawal from the Class in the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, or Senior year respectively. A date in parentheses indicates the year in which the degree of A.B. was given "as of" 1894. Other abbreviations follow, in general, the Quinquennial Catalogue.

Address	(home) Milton Road, Rye, N. Y. (business) 25 Broad St., New York, N. Y.

In 1903, I left the dry goods business and joined the bond firm of Hartshorne and Bogert as a bond salesman and after being with them over a year, I went abroad with my brother Tom for a three months' pleasure trip. We visited the principal cities in England, Scotland, France, Germany, Hungary, Austria, Switzerland, Italy and Belgium. Returning to New York, I was taken into the firm of Hartshorne and Bogert, and said firm became Hartshorne, Bogert and Battelle, having bought a seat on the New York Stock Exchange, I becoming the board member and making a specialty in bonds. In June, 1913, Mr. Bogert retired from the firm which is now Hartshorne and Battelle. We still retain our Stock Exchange membership. About two years ago, I joined the University Club of New York to which I still belong. Am also a member of The Harvard Club, New York City and The Apawamis Golf Club of Rye, N. Y.

Children	Arthur Whitney, April 27, 1903.
Business	Wholesale Leather Merchant.
Address	Box 42 Christchurch, New Zealand.

In a former Class Report, I gave an account of my somewhat extensive travels on behalf of my firm, the Winslow Brothers and Smith Company; but I neglected to confess that this experience was productive of more pleasure to me than profit to them. They were patient with me, however, and sought to plant me in some quiet little spot, where I should spend less, and earn more. Hence, my residence in Christchurch, N. Z., where I believe I am entitled to the unenviable distinction of being not the oldest, but the most distant, living graduate. [From the Fifth Report. In 1911, the Secretary received a letter from Beals, who desired a copy of the "History of our Quindecennial Celebration." "In this far-away outpost of the Harvard Empire," he added, "I am sorely in need of all the Class Literature I can get." Not heard from since then.]

Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 31 Navarre Building, Cincinnati, Ohio. (business) 1514 First National Bank Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

During 1909, 1910 and 1911, I was in charge of the civil law department of Hamilton County, Ohio, (the county in which Cincinnati is located). In November, 1911, I was elected City Solicitor of Cincinnati for the two years 1912 and 1913. (That office corresponds to City Attorney or Corporation Counsel of other cities.) The two years were years of unprecedented activity in municipal affairs and the City Solicitor's office took a most active part, both in and out of court, in carrying out a large constructive program for the municipal government of Cincinnati. At the November, 1913, election, I was a candidate for re-election. I had the satisfaction of receiving the highest vote cast for any candidate on the Democratic ticket, but, with the rest of that ticket, I failed of re-election. Since January of this year, 1914, therefore, the people of Cincinnati have restored me to the general practice of the law, which I am now pursuing. Member: Cincinnati: Queen City Club, Phoenix Club, Business Men's Club, Harvard Club, City Club, Losantiville Country Club, Cincinnati Bar Association; Ohio: Ohio Bar Association, Ohio Municipal League; National: American Bar Association, National Municipal League, American Economic Association, American Political Science Association, Academy of Political Science, American Academy of Political and Social Science, American Conference on City Planning, National Housing Association and others.

Unmarried

Business	Manufacturer.
Address	(home) 514 South Center St., Grove City, Pa.
	(business) Lincoln Ave., Grove City, Pa.

Immediately after graduation in 1894, I went abroad with my classmate, E. N. Vose, and spent several years in England and on the Continent, engaged partly in business and partly studying French and German. Returning to America, I taught French for two years in Grove City College. In 1902, I entered the employ of The Bessemer Gas Engine Company, in my home town, Grove City, Pa., starting at the bottom. I have remained with this firm since, holding several positions, including assistant treasurer one year, and have at present charge of the Efficiency and Cost Departments. I have never married. My spare time is devoted to newspaper correspondence and to the duties of secretary of the Grove City Commercial Club, working to make my home town a better place in which to live. For a number of years my work has been varied by frequent trips to study the organization of other industrial plants in many different states and by an annual canoe trip into the wilds of Canada. Member: Harvard Club of Western Pennsylvania, at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Robert Parkman Blake

Born	Boston, Mass., Oct. 26, 1870.
Parents	Samuel Parkman, Mary Lee (Higginson) Blake.
School	William Nichols' School (private), Boston, Mass.
Years in College	1890-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894.
Married	Mary Smoot, New Bedford, Mass., June 27, 1908.
Children	Robert Parkman, Jr., Jan. 2, 1910; Elizabeth Beall, Sept. 18, 1911; Theresa, Sept. 28, 1912.
Died	April 22, 1914.

Bravely and cheerfully fighting for his life, Robert Parkman Blake died, on Wednesday, April 22, 1914, of pneumonia, after an illness of only a few days. He was a son of Samuel Parkman Blake and Mary Lee (Higginson) Blake, and was born in Boston, on October 26, 1870. His parents lived in a house on Brimmer St., which has a beautiful view to the west over the waters of the Charles River basin and there, with his two sisters and his brother, he grew up, a handsome curly-headed boy. He was prepared for college at Mr. William Nichols' private school in Boston, and his playmates of schoolboy days remember him as always eager for a game of base-ball or foot-ball or for skating or coasting or rowing on the river.

Of his work at college, Blake said in the last class report: "My inclinations led me to take a number of courses in History and Geology. As I look back on the courses I took, I can see that I lost many opportunities to take subjects which would have been both interesting and instructive, and which I have had to read up since leaving Cambridge. The elective system in force at Harvard allows a man, if he chooses, to prepare himself splendidly for his life's work, and if he does any work at all, teaches him how to apply himself." Blake was not a scholar and knew it; he did not learn easily—but he won his degree with his class, by persistent and determined hard work. He was ambitious to learn, and, after leaving college, joined several literary societies, and made conscious efforts to increase his knowledge of the fundamentals of all the activities in which he was interested. Of his play at college, he says, "In athletics I was principally interested in foot-ball and rowing, playing three years on the Class team, and one year as substitute on the Varsity; I also rowed three years on the Class crew and one year as substitute on the Varsity. I should like to add here that a man who takes an active interest in athletics gains a great deal in fun, health and good friends, which have a lasting effect on him. I belonged to the following clubs: D. K. E., Institute of 1770, Hasty Pudding, Delta Phi." As in his work, so in his athletics, and in his clubs, he gave the best that was in him to give, and went in for them with a will.

After leaving college he did various things in business, "some of which have turned out profitably, some not, but all were interesting and instructive," he said, and in all of them he worked hard. He was as honest as the sun and trusted his business associates, sometimes unwisely, but was never heard to complain if things did not turn out as they were expected to. After his marriage, he settled in the country and naturally became interested in land, and, during the last years of his life, had been building up a real estate and insurance business with energy and success. He served for four years in Battery A of Boston, from 1898 to 1901, and was a Republican in politics, and a Unitarian in faith, both by birth and by inclination. "I have," he says, "since graduation, been fortunate enough to have seen something of Europe, this country, East and West, Alaska and Canada. The two last-named countries I visited with James H. Kidder, '92, and was lucky enough to bring back some specimens of big game." He shot several Kadiak bears, and narrowly escaped a personal encounter with one of these huge and ferocious animals. His favorite sport, however, was rowing. "I have continued my rowing at the Union Boat Club in Boston," he wrote, "and have helped rowing in general when possible, being one of the stewards of the American Rowing Association, which holds annual regattas at Philadelphia for clubs and colleges." In fact, he was one of the organizers of this Association which was formed to raise the standard of American rowing, and, up to the time of his death, took great pride in its success. He hoped to see its annual regatta grow to be recognized as the American Henley and worked hard to make it so. He believed that our standards in this great sport had not been what they should be, and the genuine improvement brought about by this Association gave him real satisfaction. He was a member of the Norfolk Hunt Club and rode with it to hounds for a number of years. He was also very fond of sailing, and spent many happy holidays cruising along the New England coast. He also belonged to the Union, Tennis and Raequet and Harvard Clubs, in Boston, and to several literary societies, and to the Pocanoket Club of Dover, and the Harvard Club of New York City. He was married on June 27, 1908, at New Bedford, Mass.,

to Miss Mary Smoot, and his married life was very happy. He had three children, two boys and a girl, who, with his widow survive him. He had just completed building a charming house in Millis and was hard at work laying out the grounds.

Few men can have it said of them with truth, as was said of Robert Parkman Blake by one of his closest friends, that he never did a mean thing in his life. In his case it is not too much to say that he never had a mean thought of anyone. He was loyal, generous, unselfish—to such a degree that he may be said to have had a genius for friendship. His ready sympathy and thoughtful devotion, and his tenderness to the weak and suffering, were especially notable in a man of such rugged physical strength as he possessed. His consideration of the feelings of all men, and his charming natural courtesy were exceptional. The loss of this man will leave a void in the lives of many men with whom he has worked and played. He knew not fear, and had a sincere desire to serve his fellowman as opportunity offered. He was a great hearted gentleman of the old school—a very, perfect, gentle knight.

As there was no copy of what appeared concerning me, in the last report, I write the whole story here. After graduation in '94, I went directly to Heidelberg University and studied there two years. Here I took the degree of Ph.D. in chemistry in 1896. Returning then to Harvard College I was assistant for one year in the department of chemistry (1896-97). I then entered the Medical School and after four years' study graduated in medicine in 1901. During the last two years in the Medical School, I was assistant in hygiene, and held the George Cheyne Shattuck Fellowship for research. In the spring of 1901, I entered the Massachusetts General Hospital as Medical House Officer, completing my term of service in September, 1902. On October first, 1902, I was married to Margaret Theresa Eskridge of Selma, Ala., and eight days later we went abroad, to be gone four years. All of this time, I spent at the University of Strassburg, working in medical research. The second year of my stay I held the Parker traveling fellowship from Harvard College. During the third and fourth years, I was assistant in Pharmacology under Prof. Schneideberg. My two oldest daughters, Margaret and Wilhelmina, were born in Strassburg. In 1906, I was called back to Massachusetts to carry out an investigation for the Massachusetts State Board of Health on the cold storage problem. At the completion of this work, I accepted the position of chemist at the Massachusetts General Hospital, and I also entered upon a consulting practice in medicine. In 1913, I resigned my position at the Massachusetts General Hospital in order to devote more time to my medical practice. During the last four or five years, I have acted as expert in medicine, chemistry, and pharmacology for the Federal Government in many of its import Pure Food and Drugs cases. I have also been called upon to act as expert in medicine and chemistry in a number of Federal and State murder trials and in other cases involving such expert work. I have published a large number of monographs on medical and chemical subjects, as also several lectures. I have published one little book, the title of which is "At The Fountain Head." I am a member of a number of scientific and medical societies.

Address	(home) 41 Sever St., Worcester, Mass.
	(business) 340 Main St., Worcester, Mass.

After my graduation from the Law School, I was in the general practice of law until 1908. In that year, I became General Counsel of the State Mutual Life Assurance Company of this city, and since that time, I have devoted my entire time to the business of that company, not only as counsel, but as a member of its various committees and boards. I am still, however, a member of the Board of Investment, and the Solicitor of the Worcester Five Cents Savings Bank. I am the First Vice-President of the Worcester County Republican Club, a trustee of the Worcester Public Library, a director of the Worcester Chamber of Commerce, and a director of the Merchants' National Bank of this city. Member: Association of Life Insurance Counsel, University Club of New York; and of the following local clubs: Shakespeare Club, Bohemian Club and the Worcester Fire Society: also the Worcester Club, and a number of other organizations in which it is difficult for any moderately respectable citizen to escape membership.

GEORGE LOVELL BURDITT

Born	Lynn, Mass., Oct. 31, 1868.
Parents	George Washington, Harriet Amelia (Lord) Burditt.
School	English High School, Cambridge, Mass.
Years in College	1889-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1897, 1894 (1914).
Unmarried
Business	Accountant.
Address	371 Broadway, Cambridge, Mass.

I stayed at the Boston Art Club, until January 1, 1912, during the last two years as Head Bookkeeper. Then I went with A. N. Cook and Company, 161 Tremont St., Boston, as bookkeeper, continuing until April, 1913, when the business was discontinued, owing to the death of Mr. Newell C. Cook, the sole proprietor. After that, I was temporarily with T. G. Edwards and Son, accountants and auditors, Boston. Since then, I have been doing temporary work along the same line. For the past three years, I have been actively interested in the Peoples' Orchestra, a large orchestra connected with the Boston Music School Settlement, 110 Salem St., Boston. Although not a great artist, I struggle along among the second violins. I have become a Past Sachem in the Improved Order of Red Men, and also a member of the Harvard Alumni Chorus, and the Harvard Club of Boston. On February 18, 1914, my degree of A.B., 1897, was changed to A.B. as of the Class of 1894.

Married	Carrie Adeline Bean, San José, Cal., Jan. 27, 1895.
Children	Olive Cynthia, Oct. 27, 1897; Grace Louise, July 22, 1903; Leslie Bean, May 6, 1909.
Business	Minister.
Address	158 17th St., Pacific Grove, Cal.

Returning to California in the fall of 1906, I was appointed to the pastorate of the First Methodist Episcopal Church in Reno, Nevada. So far as the growth of the church is concerned, I have reason to be gratified, but it was strenuous time, fighting almost continually against gambling and the other vicious conditions of this notoriously wide-open town. Still before leaving Reno, Nevada, I had the satisfaction of seeing gambling abolished throughout the state, a corrupt City Council substituted by a good one, a magnificent school system established and $250,000 spent in public school buildings, $117,000 raised for a Y. M. C. A., and other important reforms accomplished. After a strenuous four years in Reno, I was appointed in October, 1910, to the pastorate of the First Methodist Episcopal Church in Pacific Grove, Cal., a beautiful seaside resort that attracts visitors from all over the country. It is a prohibition town and free from the blighting institutions of many other cities. My public work has carried me into several trusteeships. I am president of the trustees of the Public Library, a director of the Museum, and a director of the Chautauqua Assembly. Last summer, it was my privilege to take a trip that I wish every Harvard man might have enjoyed, a trip that involved over 200 miles of walking in the High Sierras, with burros to carry our provisions and luggage. We traveled all through the Big Kern and Little Kern canyons, ascended Mt. Whitney, 14,502 feet, in altitude, in a driving snowstorm, and traversed the famous Golden Trout Creek country, securing many a fine catch of these beautiful and unique fish. Last year, the College of the Pacific bestowed upon me the degree of Doctor of Divinity and the University of Puget Sound gave me the degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology. Among my unrealized ambitions is attendance upon a '94 reunion, but I still cherish it. Member: Free and Accepted Masons, Stanford Alumni Association, University of Chicago Alumni Association, Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity.

Business	Surgeon.
Address	87 Marlboro St., Boston, Mass.

The last five years has shown a growth of the work the ground-work for which was laid in the previous ten years. Changes in the organization of the surgical staff at the Massachusetts General Hospital made desirable the creation of a department of Genito-Urinary Surgery. As head of this department, with the title of chief, I was appointed in August, 1912, and still hold the position. Under this plan, I have a continuous service throughout the year with power to nominate my assistants and associates and am in turn held responsible for the policy and management of this division of the Surgical Service. This arrangement has made it incumbent on me to travel rather widely over the country, in order to familiarize myself with the work which other men are doing as well as with other plans of organization. I have believed that we in the East, and especially in Boston, were in danger of failing to know and appreciate what was being done elsewhere, and thus become isolated to our disadvantage. Particularly in medicine and surgery, a free exchange of views and ideals with other parts of the country is very essential to the sound development of our teaching departments. I have been largely interested in the development of the facilities for teaching at the hospital in connection with the Medical School both in its undergraduate and graduate departments. In 1910, I was appointed Faculty Instructor in Genito-Urinary Surgery in the Medical School, and in 1913, was advanced to the position of Assistant Professor. The death in 1912, of my cousin, Dr. Arthur T. Cabot, greatly increased the professional demands on my time, and has served with the added responsibility to keep me busy and out of mischief.

The business of managing public service corporations, particularly gas and electric light companies, became the principal part of my work during the years from 1904 to 1912. I became the president and active head of a group of companies in the Connecticut Valley centering about the water power at Turners Falls, and the vice-president and managing director of the Fall River Electric Light Company. The great difficulty of protecting this class of property against the depredations of politicians, the very rapid extensions of plant and property required to keep pace with the public demand, and the lack of public recognition of faithful service in this field should make a man hesitate before entering upon it. In April, 1912, I became a partner in the banking house of White, Weld and Company, of New York with my headquarters in Boston, and since that date, I have given a large portion of my time to the banking business. In March, 1911, I was divorced from my wife, the care and custody of the children remaining in my hands. I am still in the mining business—president and manager of the Carter Mining Company, which recently opened a large body of ore. The only notable accomplishment I am able to report is the recent completion of a four-compartment vertical upraise 1100 feet high. We had driven a tunnel horizontally into the mountain, one and one-half miles, and were at that point 1100 feet directly under the bottom of an old mine, 400 feet deep, located up on the mountain. This mine was full of water, and it was necessary to drive from the tunnel upward to the bottom of it, and let the water out. On the way up floods of water and very loose rock were encountered at several places; at others exceedingly hard granite had to be blasted out. The work was considered very dangerous, but luck was with us, and the work proceeded upward over four times as high as a twenty story building, and the only accident of consequence was one broken arm. Over half a million feet of timbers were used in making the work safe. The upraise is the longest one driven vertically in Colorado, and the only one of considerable magnitude completed without loss of life or other serious accident. When top of the upraise reached a point near the bottom of the mine overhead (which, as stated, was filled with a great body of water), extra caution was necessary to let this water out without accident or damage. When this was accomplished, and the final blast broke through into the bottom of the old shaft, it was a novel experience to climb through into workings which had been under water for thirty years, to see the old methods of mining, and to examine the odd, and for the most part inadequate, tools used in those days. I have published a few articles contributed to mining journals. Member: Harvard Club of Colorado, President of Pitkin-Ohio City Good Roads Association.

Most of us think we have sent enough data to E. K. R. to fatten a dossier (animal of same species that Monte C. kept in U. 5), until we read over our last report. Then we think we stuck pretty closely to vital statistics. Yet, I remember reporting two of the last named—the total—girl and boy. Well, I opened a law office in 1897, in Boston, where for over ten years I splashed in the puddle to my heart's content, emerging content, without gold, without mud, and in time to save health. Law is slow—I am rolling about beautiful Worcester county on my part of the proceeds of a plaintiff's case begun eight years before I first cussed water-gasoline instead of a split spark plug,—yet law has its excitements and fields of mental labor more attractive than those of the ancestral farm. I may go back, since I feel like Bob Fitzsimmons, but not to sit in an office all day. Please note, for the reunion, that I am interested in patents, fish and game laws, forestry, motor boats, fancy chickens—say, you ought to have seen Cottie Saltonstall and yours truly, each with a three pound Hamburg cock tucked under the arm. Yes, it happened, but, alas for your interest, it was at this year's Poultry Show. Upon any of these topics, I will gladly take or give an earful. I make the above suggestion of topics to set an example for our next and most important report. What a time we should look forward to, with a memorandum in our pocket,—"Talk motors with Black and Brown; single tax with White; angling with Gray and Dunn; heredity with Green; politics with Drab and yachting with Slayter." We do not go to "talk shop." Should we wish to unbosom our professional aims or theories, I am sure a '94 man is the most loyal, his comments the most candid. I repeat, we do not go to "talk shop," nor to waste the most precious time in years in groping for the mutual topic.

	(business) 31 State St., Boston, Mass.

Since the last report, I have remained in the same business. I have increased my organization and my business. The address of the office now is 31 State St. Personally, I much prefer to be at the head of a business than in the employ of others. In 1911, I went to Europe and visited Spain, Africa, Italy, Switzerland, France, Germany, England and Ireland. From this experience, what I was most impressed with, was that people seemed to be very largely a question of climate. So classmates endeavor to locate in a tempered zone. I thought France had the best climate. I am still single. I feel that marriage is largely a happening. As happiness comes from happen, I must have missed some happiness. The books I use the most are the volumes of the Century Dictionary. Use as reference considerably, President Eliot's "Harvard Classics." I carry a complete miniature dictionary on the end of my watch-chain. I have recently given the Harvard Club of Boston Robert G. Ingersoll's "Complete Works" thirteen volumes. I might add that the Harvard Divinity School has this edition. A few of my classmates call me an atheist, but since atheist and enthusiast derivatively mean just the opposite, I feel that most of the classmates, since they have many important things to decide, are frequently not enthusiasts. I have constructed definitions of words of which the dictionary does not seem to give clearness and satisfaction, such as: morality, solemnity, jealousy, civilization, education, good breeding, etc. Member: Harvard Club of Boston and also of New York, Boston Athletic Association, Corinthian Yacht Club, Newton Boat Club, Pi Eta Society.

GEORGE FOSTER COLLIER

Children	Corinne Katherine, Aug. 19, 1897; Charles Arthur, Sept. 26, 1899.
Business	Teacher.
Address	187 Beech St., Berea, Ohio.

I attended Harvard University three years and received the degrees A.B. and A.M., my special work being English and History. I remember with special delight the class work under Professor Child in Bacon, Chaucer, and Shakespeare. In 1895, I was elected Professor of English Literature in Baldwin University, Berea, Ohio, where I still remain. I was librarian of this institution for five years; acting president for two years and for the last four years have been dean of the College Faculty. The Institution I have served for fourteen years granted me the degree Litt.D. in 1906. During the summer of 1910, my wife and I spent six weeks in England and Scotland, and about the same length of time touring Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Western Germany and France. We had the pleasure of seeing the Passion Play at Oberammergau, Bavaria. I have given several lectures on my trip and particularly concerning the Passion Play. Since the fall of 1913, I have been Professor of History in Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio. Am publicity chairman of our college faculty and have written numerous news articles for the press concerning our college and its work. Member: National Geographic Society, American Historical Society.

Address	(home) Box 412, Riverside, Ill.
	(business) 332 South Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.

I have not been for several years an active official in any one of the businesses in which I am interested. When a year ago last November, I was nominated (without my knowledge) by the Progressive party as a candidate for Commissioner (Supervisor) of Cook County, I was able to serve upon my election. The Commissioners handle about twelve million dollars annually (wasting a considerable part of it) so the position should be considered an important one. I have found the experience interesting, enlightening and (except financially) profitable. I feel that I have been able to perform some measure of public service. Further deponent sayeth not. Business	Director Physical Education.
Address	(home) 501 Knoblock, St., Stillwater, Okla.
	(business) A. and M. College, Stillwater, Okla.
	(permanent) East Hebron, N. H.

I completed a course in the technique of Physical Education, under Dr. Sargent in the Harvard Summer School, 1909, and thereupon, I went to The Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, as Director of Physical Education. I obtained the A.B. degree from Harvard in 1910, as of '94, by taking in absentia courses in education. In 1911, I was granted by Ohio University the degree of M.Ped. by special work in those pre-medical subjects that have to do with Padology and Physical Training. I practised physical education in the state of Ohio for four years, and came to The Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College, Stillwater, Okla., as Director of Physical Training in September, 1913. I have everything in this world that most men crave except money. That is always one stride ahead of me. However, I'm a plugger and my endurance is good. I coached a team at football in 1913, which scored 200 points to opponents' 12 without having their goal line crossed. Have published occasional articles concerning Physical Training.

Address	366 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass.

M.D., Harvard, 1898; six months in Europe; two years as house officer, Boston City Hospital, and since then the practice of surgery, mixed in with sailing a boat, one of the finest schooners, in my biased opinion, out of Boston. 1903, appointed Visiting Surgeon, Boston City Hospital, and 1904, Assistant in Surgery, Harvard Medical School; also, secretary of the Suffolk District Medical Society. Now Censor of Suffolk District Medical Society and member of Committee on Public Health. As a sign of the advent of middle-age, I have gone in for a gasoline cruiser in place of the schooner. Let me advise against such a course: there is nothing in it for a real sailor. Member: Boston City Club, Harvard Club of Boston, Boston Yacht Club, Massachusetts Medical Society.

Business	Librarian.
Address	(home) 60 Highland Ave., Cambridge, Mass. (business) Harvard College Library, Cambridge, Mass.

In September, 1913, I was appointed assistant librarian of Harvard College Library, and hope to be able to welcome classmates to the new Widener building next June. Close attention to matters of library reorganization has prevented any unusual activity outside the field of my daily work. At home the chief event has been the advent of my little daughter Margaret, born July 8, 1910. Some small contributions to the Library Journal. Collaborated in "Catalog of Rules," compiled by committees of the American Library Association and the (British) Library Association, Boston, 1908. I published in 1903, with the assistance of Ernest Lewis Gay (Harvard, '97), a Catalogue of the Molière Collection in Harvard College Library, Cambridge, Member: American Library Association, Bibliographical Society of America, Appalachian Mountain Club, Massachusetts Library Club, Librarians' Club, Boston, and Phi Beta Kappa.

Address	(home) 483 Canton Ave., Milton, Mass. (business) 54 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass.

The past five years have passed happily, uneventfully and all too quickly. My family circle has increased by the addition of our youngest daughter Ellen, who promises to be as strong and lively as her brother and sisters. We have enjoyed our country life in Milton, finding the automobile most useful in keeping us in touch with our interests in Boston. We have also enjoyed making several vacation trips about New England by automobile. This last summer we made a pleasant visit at North Haven, Maine. My business life continues harmoniously with Elias B. Bishop at our offices on Devonshire St. Our day's-work seems to get busier all the time, although I cannot say that our returns increase with the leaps and bounds which are supposed to be in order for the legal profession. Perhaps President Wilson's administration will make business and social conditions more contented than they have been lately. Thomas Johnson Cushing

Born	Madison, Wis., May 2, 1872.
Parents	Louis T., Mary Rebecca (Johnson) Cushing.
School	Chauncy Hall School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College	1890-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894.
Married	Ethel Pitman, New York, N. Y., Jan. 29, 1899.
Died	Feb. 28, 1910.

Thomas Johnson Cushing died at 1044 Clay Ave., New York City, on the 1st day of March, 1910, of Bright's disease with other complications. He was the son of Louis T. and Mary R. Cushing, of Cohasset, Mass. He was born May 2, 1872, at Madison, Wis., but lived at Cohasset until he came to college, for which he prepared at Chauncy Hall School, Boston. Cushing came to New York immediately after graduation, and entered the general offices of the New York Telephone Company. He was for a time in the Drafting Department, but was soon given complete charge of his Department, that of purchasing poles and other supplies in the general vicinity of New York. At the time of his death he had achieved the highest possible position in his Department, and was looked upon as an exceptionally intelligent and reliable man. He had married January 29, 1899, Miss Ethel Pitman, one of the daughters of Judge Pitman, of Brooklyn, and had had an ideal married life. He was deeply attached to his home, which was an unusual one for New York, filled as it was with heirlooms, pictures, and furniture which had descended to him through a long line of Johnsons and of Cushings, old Massachusetts families. As an avocation he was keenly interested in philately and had a stamp collection which was of unusual completeness and great value. He was a member of the Harvard Club, which he often visited, especially when assured beforehand that some of his old friends or classmates would be on hand, when he was glad indeed to renew friendships and join in the fraternal gaiety sometimes found at that club. He was sincere and loyal in his affection to a degree far beyond the average, and his death was a loss keenly felt by many intimate friends.

I have continued in the general practice of the law at Seattle, and for the past four years, have been local counsel for the New Amsterdam Casualty Company of New York.

In my statement for a prior report, I referred to the Seattle Harvard Club's habit of administering annually a defeat in baseball to their Yale rivals, as their chief pastime. That was true when I wrote it, but up to that time only. Since then, vice versa. The pleasant pastimes aforementioned have developed into sad slaughters, and the effect is distasteful. It really spoils our whole day, and endures even longer. We all feel sore, and some of us lame throughout the next day. We need young blood, and the fact that we were obliged last year to put in Livingston Stedman '87, as pinch hitter, is evidence of it. Recent graduates will find here a hearty welcome, especially those who play an artistic game of ball. Member: University Club, Harvard Club, Harvard Varsity Club, Seattle Golf Club.

Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 26 Fruit St., Worcester, Mass. (business) 808 Slater Building, Worcester, Mass.

After graduation, I spent a year in the law office of Hopkins, Bacon and Smith, in Worcester, then went to the Law School for two years taking a Master's degree in 1897 in Law School work. Was admitted to the bar, December 31, 1897, and began practice in the office of Hopkins, Bacon and Smith, where I have since remained, the firm being changed in 1902 to Smith, Gage and Dresser. Since 1898, I have been a United States Commissioner. In 1902, published "The Employer's Liability Acts, and the Assumption of Risks" (Keefe-Davidson Company, St. Paul, Minn.), and in 1908, a supplement to that volume (Keefe-Davidson Company). Have written several short articles on The Workmen's Compensation Acts, and on local historical matters. Am a Trustee of the Memorial Hospital, and of the Worcester County Institution for Savings; am a member of the American Antiquarian Society, the Quinsigamond Boat Club and the Worcester Club, and am connected with several of the local charities.

Married	Marie Livingston Robertson, East Aurora, N. Y., Oct. 17, 1901.
Children	Marie Louise, March 6, 1903; Benjamin Minge, Jr., June 10, 1907; Anna Guerard, Jan. 22, 1913.
Business	Research Professor and Physiologist.
Address	(home) 5236a Waterman Ave., St. Louis, Mo. (business) Missouri Botanical Garden, St. Louis, Mo.

1908, appointed Professor of Plant Physiology at Cornell University. Now Research Professor of Plant Physiology, Washington University, St. Louis, and Physiologist to the Missouri Botanical Garden. My present position is essentially one in research. I have also charge, however, of the Graduate Laboratory of the Missouri Botanical Garden, in which is conducted the graduate work of the Shaw School of Botany of Washington University. The Missouri Botanical Garden affords unexcelled advantages in Library and Plant Material, and I came here because of these advantages, although severing my connection with Cornell University with many regrets, on account of my great interest in the active scientific departments of that university. I have written scientific articles in botanical journals and elsewhere: "Fungous Diseases of Plants," 508 pp., illust., Ginn and Company, 1909; "Plant Physiology," illust., Macmillan Company, 1911. Member: American Phylopathological Society.

Business	University Professor.
Address	(home) 1410 Alder St., Eugene, Ore.
	(business) University of Oregon Eugene, Ore.

Events have followed a pretty even tenor since my last report, save that I am growing heavier and balder. I am staying hard by my University routine, interrupted frequently by lecture excursions into various sections of the state. Public address have fallen generously to my lot, two Fourth of July effulgences among them. I was privileged to assist at the birth of the Classical Association of the Pacific Northwest, being its organizing secretary-treasurer, and its second president. I have added somewhat to my Masonic experiences, having served as Eminent Commander of our local Knights Templar, and being now a trustee for three years' term of the local Masonic Lodge. I am serving a third year as President of the Board of Directors of the local Carnegie Library. I have written: "Juvenal, a Humorist," Classical Weekly, Vol. IV., No. 7; "Diana or Christ," Pacific Christian Advocate, Nov. 24, 1909; "Translation of Horace's Ode I. 38," U. of O. Monthly, Nov., 1904; "A Recessional," The Eastern Star, Vol. 21, No. 12; "The Helvetian Quartet," Classical Weekly, 1909, April 17, 24, and May 1; "The Last of the Sequani," U. of O. Bulletin, Dec., 1911; "The Julian Comet," Popular Astronomy, March, 1910; "A Study in Roman Coins of the Empire," Records of the Past, Vol. IX., Part 1; "A Coin of Trajan Decius," Classical Weekly, Vol. V., No. 17; "Benj. Franklin Before the Revolution," Annual of Oregon Society of Sons of the American Revolution, Nov., 1911; "The Coins of Antoninus Pius," Records of the Past, 1911, Nos. 1, 2, 4; "The Historical Novel in the Classroom," Classical Journal, Vol. VI., No. 7; "An Apocalypse in Abbreviations," Classical Weekly, Vol. IV., No. 17. Member: The Round Table (social and literary, composed of College Graduates, meeting monthly); Acacia Fraternity, Eugene Lodge, No. 11, A. F. and A. M.; Eugene Chapter, No. 10, R. A. M., Hiram Council, No. 7, R. S. M.; Ivanhoe Commandery, No. 2, K. T.; Al Kader Temple, A. O. N. M. S.; Evangeline Chapter, No. 52, O. E. S.; Sons of the American Revolution, Oregon Society; American Philological Association, Classical Association of the Pacific Northwest, College Association of Art.

School	Hopkinson's School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College	1890-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894.
Married	Clara Ethel Purdon, Boston, Mass., Nov. 27, 1901.
Children	Jeannie Ursula, Sept. 4, 1902; Clara Ethel, Feb. 25, 1908; Laura Derby, Nov. 28, 1909; William Arthur, Jr., May 7, 1912.
Business	Wool Merchant.
Address	(home) Brush Hill Road, Milton, Mass. (P. O. Hyde Park, Mass.)
	(business) 262 Summer St., Boston, Mass.

In 1896, became partner in firm of Nichols, Dupee and Company, which was afterwards succeeded by Dupee and Hackett; the firm is now Dupee and Meadows. Our business is largely in foreign work which obliges me to make frequent trips abroad. My large and growing family has kept me poor, but happy. I regret to say I have done nothing in public or philanthropic work.

HENRY CHOUTEAU DYER

Born	St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 9, 1872.
Parents	John Napier, Corinne (Chouteau) Dyer.
School	Smith Academy, St. Louis, Mo.; Kendall's School, Cambridge, Mass.
Years in College	1890-1894.

In 1910, I was named as one of the Democratic nominees for the Circuit Bench, but, as that was before the advent of the Progressives—the handmaidens of the Democratic party—the election went to my Republican opponent. In the spring of 1911, I was nominated for the office of President of the City Council, but again Fortune smiled upon my opponent. In October, 1910, I suffered the serious affliction of the loss of my wife through an accident, leaving me with five children, one a mere baby, but who is today (February 2d), four years old, and is a "right smart youngster," as they say in Missouri, considering she has been raised, so far, entirely by a man. My profession and children have taken up practically all of my time, so that ventures into fields afar have been few. I believe in the outdoor life, and consider it an aid to character building, and, following this belief, I have for the past five years spent a month or two each summer in the woods and mountains, camping out. Last summer, (1913), my three oldest children and myself tramped for three hundred miles through the Medicine Bow Range of mountains in Colorado, fishing, hunting and tying packs on our mules. You get close to your children and they get close to you under similar circumstances. In the spring of 1913, my oldest daughter, Grace, and I made a trip to Panama, South America, and the West India Islands. I notice in my prior report that I remarked that after being admitted to the bar, I began to pursue clients in the manner in which I had pursued certain courses in college. Congress recently passed a restrictive Game Law to prevent the total extinction of our migratory birds. We need some similar legislation to protect clients, because I find that the more progressive lawyers are gathering in them all, and in a few years (save in expensive preserves such as the Steel, Tobacco and Sugar Trust) the species will be extinct. I have contributed articles on the "Power of a State to Prohibit the Manufacture of Liquor for Export," and a "Discussion of the Income Tax Lax of 1913," to the Central Law Journal; also an article on "Quail Shooting in the South," to one of our local newspapers. I am a retired member of the National Guard of Missouri with rank of Major. I belong to the Racquet (athletic and stem-lifting), City (luncheon and uplight), University (beer and reminiscence), Sunset Inn (more beer and pretzels), Island (shooting), and Greenleaf Law (pleasure) Clubs. I am Vice-President of the Children's Aid Society and have resigned from all other interlocking directorates.

CHARLES BROWN EARLE

Born	Worcester, Mass., July 18, 1871.
Parents	Stephen Carpenter, Mary Louise (Brown) Earle.
School	Worcester High School, Worcester, Mass.
Years in College	1890-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894.
Unmarried
Business	Real Estate Broker.
Address	(home) 566 Pleasant St., Worcester, Mass.
	(business) 55 Congress St., Boston, Mass.

In the autumn of 1894, I began teaching Classics at Milton Academy, where I remained till December, 1903, when my health became so poor that I did no work until the autumn of 1905, when I entered the office of C. W. Whittier and Brothers, real estate brokers at Shawmut Bank Building, Boston, Mass., where I have been a broker since. I have been to Europe four times, traveling in Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, and Greece. Member: Oakley Country Club, Harvard Club of Boston.

SAMUEL CHANDLER EARLE

Born	Brattleboro, Vt., July 7, 1870.
Parents	Orville, Eliza Miriam (Chandler) Earle.
School	Somerville High School, Somerville, Mass.
Years in College	1890-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894; A.M., 1895.

Married	Lydia Gustin Knight, Stanstead, Quebec, December 27, 1899.
Children	Ruth, Nov. 18, 1900; Edwin, Dec. 9, 1904.
Business	College Professor.
Address	45 Sawyer Ave., Tufts College, Mass.

I began teaching at Tufts College in 1896, and since 1901, have had charge of the department of English in the Engineering School. The teaching of engineers (especially at Tufts) offers, I have found, exceptionally good opportunities for studying what I consider the most important educational problems of schools and colleges at present: the reorganization of instruction, in accordance with present needs, and the salvation of the work from the spoilers who would make education merely vocational training. I have published: "Sentences and Their Elements," (Macmillan) First edition, 1910, Second, 1911; "The Theory and Practice of Technical Writing." (Macmillan), 1911; various educational articles in "The Proceedings of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education," in the English Journal, and in engineering and collegiate publications. Member: The Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, American Forestry Association, Massachusetts Forestry Association, Somerville Harvard Club, Somerville Historical Society.

Business	Literary Editor, Boston Transcript.
Address	(home) 200 Pleasant St., Arlington, Mass.
	(business) 324 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

My life has been uneventful since the last report, but none the less pleasant. Practically all I have to add is that I have taken to gardening and fruit-growing for recreation, and that I find the out-door hours gained thereby beneficial to mind and body. Nothing added to publications noticed in the last Report.

I was assistant pastor of Plymouth Congregational Church in Seattle 1907-08. About a year in Puyallup as Congregational pastor during which time I got a public library started. I went to Douglas, Alaska, to take charge for two years of a difficult field including Treadwell, the largest gold mining camp in Alaska. My work included entire care of all the affairs of a moribund church, in order that it might be revived instead of buried, work among many nationalities, social service for children (boys camp), securing playground, night-school for foreigners, men's club for English speaking men, physical renovation of church and grounds, mixing in the social life of miners, visiting "bank houses" and mines, marrying, burying and baptizing. For recreation, mountain climbing, fishing and hunting. Left Alaska, October, 1911, came directly to pastorate of Congregational Church of Oregon City, oldest town and Congregational Church in the state. Active here in social work, sermons and lectures on Socialism and present day problems. Appointed to State Committees of the Denomination. Writing for local press and denominational press. I have published an article, "The New Congregational Creed."

DAVID ABRAM ELLIS

Born	Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 20, 1873.

On January 1, 1914, Francis N. Balch of the class of '96 and myself formed a partnership for the general practice of the law under the name of Ellis and Balch, and we have our offices at 60 State St., Rooms 804-808, Boston, Mass.

The subject of law reform has especially interested me the last couple of years, and as Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Massachusetts Bar Association, and a member of its Executive Committee for 1913-1914, I have been, and am still trying to assist toward the simplification of legal procedure. My appointment last August to the Boston Transit Commission has also brought me into touch with a new class of problems, those of transportation in general, and of subways in particular, and I have found them very interesting. I suppose I ought also to say something about my connection with education subsequent to my statement in the last report on the subject as this has been the most important avocation of my life. I was Chairman of the Boston School Committee for the years 1909-1912, and remained a member and Chairman of it until February 1, 1913. I served in all upon the School Committee of the City of Boston, old Board and new Board, member and chairman, ten years and one month. I was fortunate enough a few years ago to be made a member of the Committee on Education of the College and I have been giving a few lectures each year on the subject of Municipal Government with particular reference to school administration at Harvard. I have also become trustee of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, and of the National Council of Associated Young Men's Hebrew Associations. There are still other semi-educational and semi-public movements with which I have been weak enough to permit myself to become associated. I hope some day to concentrate in one definite channel, but that day apparently never arrives. I am afraid I shall always furnish a bad example of the dissipation of energies.

Address	625 Mendota Court, Madison, Wis.

Student in the Harvard Graduate School 1896-1900. Also for two years, teacher of Greek and Latin at the Belmont School. A.M. 1897; Ph.D., 1900. Summer of 1900, traveled in England and Germany. Instructor in Greek at Phillips Academy, Andover, till January, 1901, when I was appointed Instructor in Latin at the University of Wisconsin; appointed Assistant Professor, 1902. In 1905-06, I spent a year in Europe, studying at the Universities of Bonn and Halle, and traveling in Germany, Italy, and Greece. In 1907, I was appointed Associate Professor of Latin. I was married to Augustine Louise Elleau at Newark, New Jersey, December 26, 1908. During the first six months of 1912, my wife and I traveled in Sicily and Italy, where we visited the usual classical sites, and in Sicily some sites such as Castrogiovanni (Enna), and Tyndaro (Tyndaris), which deserve to be better known, both for their beauty and for their antiquarian interest. During the past ten years my special interests in the field of Classical Philology have been in Greek and Roman Religion, and in the development of Latin Satire. I have published a number of articles in these fields in philological periodicals. It is my hope at some time in the future to publish these studies in a volume. This year, I am President of the Language and Literature Club of the University of Wisconsin. Any member of the class of '94, who is passing through Madison will have a warm welcome from me, and may have an opportunity to judge of the success of my efforts to graft Latin upon the "Wisconsin Idea." I have written: "Worship of the Roman Emperors in Spain," Harvard Studies in Classical Philology, Vol. VI.; "The Politics of the Patrician Claudii," Harvard Studies in Classical Philology, Vol. XIII.; "Lucilius and Persius." Translations of the American Philological Association, Vol. XL.; "Lucilius, the Ars Poetica of Horace and Persius," Harvard Studies in Classical Philology, Vol. XXIV.; Reviews in "Classical Philology," of various books and articles in the fields of Ancient Religion and Latin Satire. Member: American Philological Association, Classical Association of the Middle West and South, Archaeological Institute of America, Language and Literature Club of the University of Wisconsin, Harvard Club of Madison, University Club of Madison. Unlike one of my colleagues in the University, I have not yet been elected to honorary membership in the Society of Mothers.

The chief events in my career not chronicled previously are these: In 1910, I was a Vice-President of the Modern Language Association of America. Since 1911, I have been Chairman of the Department of French and Other Romance Languages at Harvard. During the spring and summer of 1913, I was a delegate of Harvard University to visit the Universities and Colleges of South America. During my trip, I made addresses at most of the important institutions of higher training in Panama, Peru, Bolivia, Chile, the Argentine, Uruguay and Brazil. The University of Chile invited me to return in the autumn season of 1913, and lecture in Spanish on aspects of Spanish literature. I could not do this for reasons of health; family affairs also made it difficult to accept this tempting offer. Undoubtedly, however, we shall soon have a permanent exchange of teachers and students between the institutions of Latin-America and Harvard. At the present moment my publishing activities continue in connection with my series of Spanish Texts put forth by Holt and Company. Of more than 20 texts for which we have provided, a dozen have appeared in the last five or six years. I am now Professor of Romance Languages at Harvard University (entitled Smith Professor of the French and Spanish languages.) Have published as author or editor: "The Old Spanish Sibilants," Boston, 1900; "Spanish Composition," Boston, 1901; "Spanish Grammar," (with E. C. Hills), Boston, 1904; "Chivalrous Romances in Italian Verse," New York, 1904; "Goldoni's Curioso Accidente," Boston, 1899; "Moratín's Sí de las niñas," Boston, 1899; "Alarcón's Capitán Veneno," Boston, 1900; "A Spanish Anthology," New York, 1901; "Old Spanish Readings," (with a philological study of the Spanish language), Boston, 1906; "Selectons from Don Quijote," Boston. Have also published numerous articles and reviews and many articles as Contributing Editor of the New International Encycloepaedia, of The Catholic Encyclopaedia, of Johnson's Encyclopaedia, etc. Fellow American Academy Arts and Sciences, Foreign Member Royal Spanish Academy, Corr. Member Hispanic Society of America. Member: Author's Club of Boston, Dante Society of America, American Folk Lore Society, Modern Language Association of America, Colonial Club of Cambridge, Harvard Club of Boston, The Cambridge Club.

Business	Writer.
Address	(home) Nashawtuc Road, Concord, Mass.

After graduation I broke down completely, spent eighteen months abroad, and on returning gradually recovered my health. Wrote stories and artieles for the magazines, and published the following books. Juveniles: "The Junior Cup," "Sir Marrok," "The Story of Rolf," "The Reform of Shaun," "Heroes of Iceland," "The Story of Grettir the Strong," "Pelham and His Friend Tim." Novels: "The Colonials," "The Barrier." Seientifie: "The Book of Vegetables." Historic: "The Siege of Boston." In 1907, I took up teaching, and entered the English department of the Institute of Technology. For five years following I was on the English A staff at Harvard. This present year (1913-14), I am again independent, and intend to see what I can do by my writing. A serial of mine is now running in "St. Nicholas," and will next fall be published as a book. Two other books, one a text-book of gardening, one another juvenile, I have just finished. My home is at Concord, Mass., and I spend my summers at Petersham, Mass. I have for some years had vague plans, which never amount to anything, of taking the family to Europe for a year or two.

Since the last report life has been uneventful, save for the arrival of a little daughter, now three years old and lovely as a flower. Business has been demanding of both time and energy; some progress has been made, more is hoped for. Last July, Perry, Coffin and Burr opened an office at 55 Wall St., New York, as a buying headquarters for me in the big city. This keeps me in New York about half of the time, and while the business contact is stimulating, yet when the desk closes at the end of the day, Boston seems the more desirable place. Last March, I finally succeeded in getting to Panama, going over the Canal in detail and portions of it with Colonel Gaillard and with Colonel Goethals. The physical aspects were not the most impressive; what impressed most was the feeling of the power and ultimate capacity of the nation back of it, and a newly awakened sense of the duties and responsibilities of citizenship. Then I penetrated into the untouched tropical forest of extreme Southern Panama, and may have crossed the path of Balboa, when he made his way through the same changeless, trackless wilderness. It was a most interesting experience. On the way back, I enjoyed six days in quarantine at Kingston. I might add, barracked and fed by the king, for we declined to pay the bills. I suppose I am with many others in watching national affairs with a mixture of fear and hope. Probably each generation has its problems, but ours seems to have a full share of serious ones. The conflict between him who has and him who has not, will never be settled, but just now it seems over fierce and not too ably led. Married	Ruth Eulalia Fletcher, Boston, Mass., Oct. 29, 1909.

Children	William Howard, Jr., April 9, 1911; Frances, Feb. 4, 1913; Robin, Feb. 4, 1914
Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 11 High Rock Way, Allston, Mass. (business) Ames Building, Boston, Mass.

In September, 1910, I left Concord, where I had lived since 1886, and came to Boston, where I am now living in the Allston district. My father (A.B. 1866 Harvard), died in Minneapolis, Minnesota, September 1, 1913. He would have been 71 years old if he had lived till the 14th of that month. I resigned my office as Assistant United States Attorney on December 31, 1913, after an eighth of a century of continuous service: (That sounds longer, and seems longer, than twelve and a half years.) The Attorney-general, had no difficulty in finding another Harvard man to fill my place. He promptly appointed Leo A. Rogers, 1901. On January 1, 1914, I became connected with the law firm of Tyler, Corneau and Eames, whose offices are on the eleventh floor of the Ames Building, Boston. I mention the floor as an inducement to visitors, as the building is the highest in Boston, and the view from our windows is unsurpassed. I hope the Secretary will not edit this stuff in such a way that the gentle reader will fail to note at least, the conspicuous absence of race suicide in my family, and the fact that my second and third children were born just 365 days apart.

FRANK WRIGHT GARRISON

Born	Roxbury, Mass., Oct. 18, 1871.
Parents	William Lloyd, Ellen (Wright) Garrison.
School	Roxbury Latin School, Roxbury, Mass.; Hale's School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College	1890-1894.

Business	Lawyer and Deputy Clerk, U. S. District Court.
Address	(home) 91 Cottage Park Road, Winthrop, Mass. (business) 112 Post Office Building, Boston, Mass.

I continued as deputy clerk of the Circuit Court until that court was abolished, by Act of Congress, on January 1, 1912, when I was appointed as deputy clerk of the United States District Court, and am still in that position. I do some work as a practising attorney. I have moved my residence from Mattapan to Winthrop. I have continued as a member of the Corps of Engineers of the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, and as such have taken part in several of the maneuvres which the National Guard of the states and the Army of the United States have jointly conducted. I would urge all Harvard men to do their utmost in maintaining the efficiency of the National Guard. Member: Sons of Veterans, Knights of Columbus, Roxbury Society, Catholic Alumni Association of Boston, Hooker Association, Old School Boys' Association, National Guard Association, Cottage Park Yacht Club of Winthrop, Mass.

Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 45 Waterston Road, Newton, Mass.
	(business) 101 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

In the five years which have elapsed since the last report I have remained in the same office, lived in the same city, worked at the same old problems and smoked the same brand of five-cent cigars. The one element of progress in my record is that I am the proud father of twin boys. As their oldest brother says, they are both twins. With four boys, I can now have a pretty good game right in the family of golf, tennis, baseball, auction bridge or poker, but I cannot always keep track of them, even with a card index. My remaining problem is simply this, to put them all through Harvard at the same time.

Unmarried
Business	Coal Operator and Farmer.
Address	(home) Newcastle, Maine.
	(business) Wayland, Ky.

From Harvard, I went to New York into the office of Davies, Stone, and Auerbach, lawyers, was admitted to the Bar of New York in May, 1898. War with Spain having been declared that spring, I obtained a commission as Second Lieutenant in the Regular Army, where I served for eight years, resigning with rank of Captain while on duty as Judge Advocate in the Department of Dakota at St. Paul, Minn. While in the army was in Santiago, Cuba, and the Philippine Islands, where I saw active service, being in a number of engagements; and while stationed in Washington, D. C., had the pleasure and honor to serve as aide-de-camp to President Roosevelt at the White House. From the army went to the tropics for the United Fruit Company. Visited the Panama Canal in 1908. Then took up manufacturing in Massachusetts. A good opportunity being presented to go to Kentucky to aid in a large development of coal lands, I went there to help develop and mine, and am at the present time in the Hills of Eastern Kentucky. Besides operating in coal, I have a great longing for my home and farm in Maine and hope eventually to work out of mining into farming. I have the great privilege there of being closely identified with our small Episcopal Church, built by my grandfather, and have the pleasure and duty of being its Senior Warden. I am still a bachelor; that is my one regret, and I cannot help mentioning the sad part of fighting out one's battles alone. Member: In Boston, Tennis and Racquet Club, Norfolk Hunt Club, St. Botolph Club, Harvard Club; in New York, Union Club, Harvard Club; in Washington, Metropolitan Club, Army and Navy Club; in Portland, Cumberland Club; Society of Colonial Wars, Maine; Society of Cincinnati, New Hampshire; Union Society of Civil War.

Address	(home) R. F. D., Rowley, Mass. (business) 3 Park St., Boston, Mass. (permanent) 111 Chestnut St., Boston, Mass.

I am still clerk of the Boston Art Commission. Feeling the usual family need for filthy lucre, I became Agent for Prevention of Blindness, for the Massachusetts Commission for the Blind, in June, 1910, after a second year of Sociological study in the winter of 1909-10. In June, 1913, I also took up the work of manager for the Theatre of Elizabeth Peabody House, a West End Settlement House in Boston. My study of "Ophthalmia Neonatorum in Ten Massachusetts Cities," was published by the Russell Sage Foundation in 1910. My paper on "Preventable Blindness, a Challenge to the Professions," (read by invitation before the Ophthalmic Section of the American Medical Association, Minneapolis, 1913), has been published, in part, in the Journal of the American Medical Association, and in full as a pamphlet. As Manager of the Elizabeth Peabody Home Theatre, I have produced a series of plays, mostly in Yiddish and acted by a stock company of Russian Jewish immigrants. I have published the following books: "The Wisdom of Shakespeare," (compilation); "The Children's Crusade," from the French of Marcel Schweb (translation); "The Father," a drama; "Pontius Pilate, St. Ronan, Theophile," three plays; "Plains and Uplands of Old France," (travel); "The Childhood of Christ," (translation from Latin). Articles: "Eugéne Carrière," (art criticism), Century Magazine; "The Romance of Motoring," (essay), Atlantic Monthly; etc. Pamphlets: "Ophthalmia Neonatorum in Ten Massachusetts Cities," Russell Sage Foundation, 1910; "Preventable Blindness, a Challenge to the Professions," Am. Medical Ass., 1913. Member: Tavern Club, Union Boat Club, City Club, Boston; Harvard Union, Cambridge. I have abandoned the "Loft Theatre," and have resigned from the New York City Club, and the St. Botolph Club.

Address	(home) 70 Woodstock Road, Oxford, England. (permanent) St. James' Club, Piccadilly, London, England.

I have continued my work in the interest of the Internation Organization Potentia. Three months ago in December, 1913, I was commissioned together with the Earl of Kintore to deliver "The American Potentia Charter." On January 17, 1914, that charter was delivered to the American Potentia Council at a meeting held in the University Club of Chicago. Professor John H. Wigmore, dean of the law school of North Western University presided at that meeting as vice-chairman of the American Council. In May, 1913, I contested a seat for the Danish Rigsdag (Congress); the election took place the 20th of May, and I was defeated. I have now entered Oxford University, and have been admitted to New College as a research student for the degree of

B. Litt. I expect to continue for a degree of Doctor of Letters. I have just settled with my family at 70 Woodstock Road, Oxford, where I hope to welcome many Harvard men and from here carry on my studies and work. Member: St. James Club, Piccadilly, London; University Club of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.; Harvard Club of New York City; Oxford Union Society, Oxford, England.

Business	Manufacturer of Iron and Steel.
Address	(home) Radnor, Pa.
	(business) 1421 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

In 1910, my old concern, Richard Heckscher and Sons Company, went out of existence by consolidation with the Alan Wood Iron and Steel Company. The latter company owned and operated large steel works, situated on the opposite bank, of the Schuylhill River, from that on which our blast furnaces are located. The two works are now connected by a bridge over the river, thus enabling the consolidated company to secure the results and economies of the most modern methods of steel making. I am, and have been since the consolidation, a director of the Alan Wood Iron and Steel Company, and Manager of the Blast Furnace Department. Member: Radnor Hunt Club, Merion Cricket Club of Haverford; and in Philadelphia, Racquet, Markham and Harvard Clubs.

Since the last class report, the most exciting episodes in my life have been two stays in the hospital, the second for a rather serious double operation. I came through in good shape, thanks to a skilful, considerate and moderate-priced surgeon. (There are such). Otherwise, existence has been sufficiently humdrum, made up of teaching and studying, editing a book and writing brief articles, routine work, moderate pleasures and modest travels. The highest "office of honor or trust" that has been bestowed upon me is that of second vice-president of the Harvard Club of Washington. I can recommend an office of this sort as making absolutely no demands on one's time or energy. I have written: "Representative French Lyrics of the Nineteenth Century," edited with notes, critiques, list of additional reading, etc., Ginn and Company, 1913; "Date of Hugo's Expiation," Modern Language Notes, June, 1911; "The Use of the French Past Definite in si-Clauses," ib., Feb., 1912; "A Note on Musset," ib., April, 1912; "Notes on Some Seventeenth-Century Uses of Words in French," George Washington University Publications, Nov., 1907. Member Clubs: Harvard, Federal Schoolmen; Washington, District of Columbia; Colonial, Cambridge; Modern Language Association of America.

School	Browne and Nichols School, Cambridge, Mass.
Years in College	1890-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894.

Married	Mary Alison Bixby, New Bedford, Mass., June 12, 1900.
Children	Thomas Dana, June 12, 1901; Henry Bixby, Sept. 8, 1905; George Edward Bellows, April 24, 1907.
Business	University Instructor, Composer and Journalist.
Address	4 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.

Studied music in Boston under the late B. J. Lang and the late Frederick Field Bullard, 1894-95; in New York, 1895-96, and 1896-97 under Arthur Whiting and Howard Parkhurst. Summer of 1898 in Paris under Widor and L. Breitner. Began teaching Piano and Harmony at Boston, fall of 1898 to 1903. Assistant musical critic Boston Transcript from 1901 to 1908. Published many articles on music, composers, etc., in the Boston Transcript, The Étude, The Musician, The New Music Review, Mercure Musicale (Paris), The Music Lovers' Calendar, etc. Editor The Musical World, 1902-03. Instructor in Music at Harvard College, 1908-14. Published: songs, op. 5, 6, 13. 14; Piano pieces, op. 7, 8, 10, "Nuns of the Perpetual Adoration" for women's voices and orchestra op. 15, performed Boston, New York, Birmingham, Eng. Pantomines: "Jack Frost in Midsummer" op. 16, (Joseph Linden Smith) performed in Chicago, Boston, New York and Baltimore; "Pan and the Star" op. 18 (Joseph Lindon Smith), as yet unperformed. Other pieces for orchestra, or voice and orchestra in manuscript, "Flower Scene and Moth Dance" from first pantomime performed at the MacDowell Festival, Peterborough, N. H., August, 1913. My work in the Harvard Musical Department leaves me little time for composition. I have obtained leave of absence for the year 1914-15, during which time I shall prosecute composition vigorously. I have contributed from time to time articles on various composers for magazines. I am at present preparing to expand a series of articles on Modern French composers, based on my lectures in Music 4b, for publication in book form. For the Harvard Musical Review, founded by Gilbert Elliott, Jr., in 1913, a publication which is unique in this country, I have acted as "graduate advisor," and contributed occasional articles. The International Society of Music (American Branch) wished to form a "local group" for the study of all critical phases of musical growth. I am president of this group with the coöperation of George Weston '97 as secretary-treasurer. We hope to induce local musicians to appreciate the opportunity for placing Boston in its due position as to critical activity. Member: St. Botolph Club, Harvard Club, Union Boat Club, Harvard Varsity Club, Harvard Musical Association, International Music Society.

Address	(home) 256 Beacon St., Boston, Mass. (business) 53 State St., Boston, Mass.

Since the publication of the last report, I have continued the practice of law in Boston as one of the firm of Hill, Barton and Homans. That practice has been uneventful, but satisfactory. Except for the birth of three children to me, I fear there is nothing of interest for me to add. Perhaps I should say that I was Secretary of the Massachusetts Bar Association for three years, and that, for the last six years, I have been a Director of the Harvard Alumni Association. Member: Harvard Club of Boston, Norfolk Hunt Club, Somerset Club, Boston; Massachusetts Society of the Cincinnati.

RICHARD PERCIVAL HOOD

Children	John Dana, Jr., June 3, 1913.
Business	Stock Farmer and Market Gardener.
Address	Beverly, Washington County, O.

In 1910, I was sent to the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, State of Oaxaca, Mexico, as manager for a land and lumber company. I should hate to express my real views about those eight months. I barely got home alive—fever—and the general manager is making a protracted visit at Columbus, as a guest of the state of Ohio. I have since then extneded my gardening operations in Ohio, and am running a stock farm as well. Floods in 1913, in Ohio, nearly did as much for me as drought in 1902-03, did in Texas. A yearly trip west to buy cattle for feeding purposes is my only break-away from the healthiest, most uncertain and most diversified business of life—farming. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Century Club of Washington, D. C., Masonic Bodies.

I have continued in the practice of my profession, have, of late years, abandoned my personal participation in affairs political, and have tried, as far as is in the power of a self-respecting citizen in these days of paternal statutes and laws which go far toward interfering with the rights of the individual, to pursue my course without running amuck of some penal legislation. Have tried, in so far as is in me, to combat the growing socialistic tendencies so manifest about us. The task is hard.

After graduating from Harvard, I spent a year in New York, and later, with my partner, John F. O'Brien, formed a copartnership under the name of Dock and Coal Company at Plattsburgh. We now have a large wholesale coal and grain business and have considerable interest in timber lands, etc. I lead a very quiet life, am very much interested in my work, and am fairly successful in what I have undertaken. I have traveled some, but my time is pretty much taken up with matters near home, and I can usually be found either at my office here or with my wife and children at our home, on the shores of Lake Champlain, at Plattsburgh. Member: Harvard, University, Union, in New York City; Tennis and Racquet in Boston; A.D., Hasty Pudding, Alpha Delta Phi, D.K. E., Institute of 1770, at Harvard.

Children	Gordon, May 15, 1906; Frances Blackler, June 8, 1908; Malcolm Gerry, Oct. 17, 1912; Harriet White, Feb. 13, 1914 (died Feb. 13, 1914).
Business	Physician.
Address	(home) Blue Hill Ave., Milton, Mass. (P. O. Readville).
	(business) 286 Warren St., Roxbury, Mass.

In the fall of 1894, entered Harvard Medical School, receiving degree of M.D. cum laude 1898. Assistant in Physiology, Harvard Medical School, 1898-99. In September, 1899, became associated with my father in the manufacture of the medicines established by my grandfather, Donald Kennedy, in 1846. In 1909, my father retiring, I formed with my brother, Sinclair Kennedy '97, a partnership known as Donald Kennedy and Company. In politics, independent. In religion, Unitarian or Free Thinker. In the summers of 1880 '82, '86 and 1890 visited Europe. In 1891, went on the Western trip of the Fifth International Congress of Geologists, passing through the oil and coal regions of Pennsylvania, the Yellowstone National Park, and thence to Salt Lake City, returning to Boston via Denver and Pike's Peak. In the summer of 1892, spent six weeks on the Harvard Summer Course in Geology in New York City. In the summer of 1893, spent six weeks at the Marine Biological Laboratory, Woods Hole, Mass. Again visited Europe in the summers of 1895, '96 and '97. In 1900, made a trip to Florida and the Bahama Islands. In 1902, visited the Bermuda Islands and later crossed the United States and sailed for the far East, spending six weeks in Japan, two weeks in Manila, and returning by the China Ports, reaching San Francisco in the early summer. Covered 500 miles by stage in California, coming eastward, spent six weeks in camp in Colorado. In 1904, spent three months in Japan, five weeks in the Hawaiian Islands, and returned from the Pacific Coast via the Canadian Rockies and the Selkirks, seeing something of that region from the saddle, not as a mountaineer. In 1907, attended the Field Meeting of the Geological section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Plattsburg, N. Y. 1909, made a trip to Lake George and Lake Champlain. 1910, spent the month of March in Bermuda Islands; in July, made a three weeks' geological trip to Nova Scotia under Professor George H. Barton. 1911, in August, again visited Nova Scotia. Amusements—or I might call it recreation—I should say Natural History with special interest in Geology. For the last ten years have been interested in gardening, making Japanese Iris my specialty. Belong to the University Club, St. Botolph Club, Naniwa Club, East Asiatic Society, Boston Society of Natural History, Harvard Travelers' Club, Harvard Club of Boston, Non-resident member of Harvard Club of New York, Member American Association Advancement of Science, National Geographic Society, Biological Society of Washington, District of Columbia, the American Geographical Society and Japan Society of New York.

Years in College	1892-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894; A.B. (Mt. Allison University), 1891.
Married	Norah Frances Ford Barton, Liverpool, England, July 27, 1897

Children	Elizabeth Hamilton, Jan. 7, 1907 .
Business	Tutor.
Address	(home) 24 Wendell St., Cambridge, Mass.
	(business) 1278 Mass. Ave., Cambridge, Mass.

I spent the summer of 1905-06 doing Labrador (as far as Nain) and Newfoundland. During the summer of 1906-07, I spent some time in the Cobalt region of N. Ontario, and the rest of the summer in N.B., and on the Maine coast. I went abroad the summer of 1907-08, and took an extensive trip through the "Near East," doing some climbing in the Carpathiana (Hobe Tatra), Tyrol Alps, etc., going down Danube, touring about in Bosnia, Herzgovinia, Dalmatia, etc., and coming back via the Black Forest and the Rhine. During summer of 1908-09, I made a trip through Canada from Atlantic to Pacific, visiting a large number of the prairie towns, doing some climbing in the Canadian Rockies, where I met Professor H. C. Parker, who predicted the Cook fake, going as far as Victoria, and returning via Seattle, where I took in the fair, and the Yellowstone National Park. My travels during summer 1909-10 were limited to a walk from Yarmouth to Halifax, N. S., and various excursions in other parts of N. S., P. E. I., and N. B. Since then (i.e. during the last three summers), I have been house-boating on the St. John River, N. B., a delightful mode of living, and a magnificent river for house-boating. I have a very decent boat with a motor tender, both of which I shall be glad to show any members of the class, if they are "down" that way. In the intervals unaccounted for above, I have tutored, but I can't recommend the job, and if any of the class will offer a better one which will not deprive me of my three months' holiday, I shall be glad to accept it. I may say, further, that as I have tutored in about 120 courses, I feel that Harvard ought to give me another degree, or perhaps two or three more. I haven't got round to the actual writing yet, but I expect to bring out a lot of books as soon as the publishers get a bit less busy. Member: I dropped, or was dropped by, (I forget which) the Harvard Canadian Club some years ago. I used to belong to the "Union," but have neglected to pay my fee lately. I have never been asked to join the Colonial Club, or any of the others. There was some talk, a few years ago, of making me an honorary member of the "Dickie," but it seems to have died down. As a matter of fact, I think a married man is better at home than hanging around a club.

Address	Washington Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio.

I left the Sonoma Wine and Brandy Company in 1900, and went into the wholesale fruit business in New York for myself, which business I sold out in 1904, and came to Cincinnati, and have been here ever since. Have never had any offices of honor. Things are on the hog out here, and if the Inter-State Commerce Commission doesn't wake up and give the railroads a square deal, this town is going on the bum. I have always been a Democrat, and like President Wilson; but am going to vote the Republican ticket in the fall. Address	Menomonie, Wis.

Further res gestae are largely comprised in the expenditure of considerable time and an equal amount of money in assisting to develop the Pacific Coast, especially the region about Northern California and Southern Oregon. Had a legal residence for several years at a Metropolis known as Yreka, in the first-mentioned commonwealth. In the early summer of 1902, made a prospecting trip into the Trinity Mountains (Calif.), in a search for gold. Brought home several pieces in my vest pocket. Later turned my attention to timber as at once more visible. more numerous, and more profitable. The Pine Tree Shilling is still my favorite coin.

ERIC ALFRED KNUDSEN

Born	Waiawa, Kauai, Hawaiian Islands, July 29, 1872.
Parents	Valdemar Emil, Annie (Sinclair) Knudsen.
School	Tutored.
Years in College	1890-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894; LL.B., 1897.
Married	Cecilie Beta l'Orange, Christiania, Norway, Sept. 18, 1905.
Children	Alexandra, June 15, 1906; Valdemar, April 15, 1910.
Business	Rancher.
Address	Kekaha, Kauai, Territory of Hawaii.

In 1900, I returned to the Hawaiian Islands and took up cattle ranching. Went into politics and represented the Island of Kauai in the Territorial Legislature of 1903, being made vice-speaker. Elected again to the session of 1905, I was chosen speaker. In 1907, I was elected to the Senate for a term of four years, and have had a lot to do in shaping the laws passed in the last few years. In 1904, I was chosen as one of the delegates to the Republican Convention at Chicago which nominated Theodore Roosevelt. In 1908, I made a trip to New York on business. In 1909, I was made chairman of the judiciary committee of the Senate, and though I am not a practising lawyer, I found the legal training I received in the Law School a great help. In the fall of 1910, I was re-elected to the Senate and in the session of 1911, I was elected president of the Senate for the session. In the fall of 1911, I made a flying trip to Singapore, to look into the plantation rubber business, in which a number of my friends had embarked and I had a chance to get a glimpse of Japan, Shanghai, and Hong Kong, which places were very interesting. In February, 1913, I was again elected as president of the Senate of the Territory of Hawaii, and when the session closed in May, feeling that I had earned a vacation, I packed up and took my little family for a year's trip to Europe, planning to be back in Boston in June to take part in the '94 celebration. Member: Pacific Club, Honolulu; University Club, Honolulu; Oahu Country Club.

Children	Gabriella May, May 19, 1906; Vernon Abbott, March 27, 1909.
Business	Physician; Specialist in Diseases of Children.
Address	270 Clarendon St., Boston, Mass.

As an instructor in the Harvard Medical School, and in my profession of Pediatrics (diseases of children), I have continued along the lines of medical teaching practice and clinical research. They have been five busy, happy years, with rewards sufficient to have made a man glad to live, but grateful that, in the natural expectation of life, there should still be thirty or more years to fulfil things hoped for but not yet attained. I have written: Chapters in "Practical Treatment," Musser and Kelly; Chapters in "Pediatrics," Roteh, 3d, 4th, and 5th editions; Monographs: "The Results of Substitute Feeding in Premature Infants," Arch. Ped., 1910; "Studies in the Nutrition and Digestion of Infants," Arch. Ped., 1912; "A Short Method of Calculating Percentage Modifications," Arch. Ped., 1912; "Vaccines in the Treatment of Pertussis," Arch. Ped., 1912; "Gastric Motility in Infants as Shown by the Roentgen Ray," Amer. J. D. of Ch., 1913; "Influence of Variations of Diet upon Gastric Motility in Infants," Arch. Ped., 1913; "Influence of Alkalies upon Gastric Motility in Infants," Bos. M. & S. J. 1914. Address	(home) Sherbrooke Road, Scarsdale, N. Y.

	(business) 49 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

The only changes in my affairs since my last report are the birth of another daughter in 1909, and a change of residence from New York City to Scarsdale, a suburb of New York, where there is plenty of room for my children to roam and a better opportunity for a good moral and physical foundation than the city affords. From 1908 to 1912, I was engaged chiefly in waterworks litigation which took me into the Federal Courts in Omaha, St. Louis, and St. Paul, but since 1912, my business has come to be almost exclusively an office practice, chiefly corporations and states. Son of Benjamin Franklin Lee and Mary Ray (King) Lee, born at New York, N. Y., September 1, 1872. Prepared for college at Cutler's School. Studied law at University of State of New York, receiving degree of LL.B., 1896. Admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of New York, June 30, 1897. Up to the time of his death, he practised law at 20 Nassau St., as a member of the firm of Lee and Lee. His practice was mostly in estate, real estate and patent counsel work. Enlisted February 20, 1896 as private, Troop 2, Squadron A, N. G. N. Y. Transferred to Hospital Corps detachment, February 20, 1899. Honorably discharged October 25, 1899, by reason of commission as 2d Lieutenant, 12th Infantry, N. G. N. Y. Transferred to Company C, February 26, 1901. First Lieutenant, as Battalion Quartermaster, 12th Regiment, September 27, 1901. Rendered Supernumerary September 18, 1909. He was spending the summer months at Babylon, L. I., where he was taken ill and died of pneumonia, September 18, 1909. His exceedingly lovable characteristics made his death all the more regrettable.

The appended list of my principal works, both musical compositions and books will show that I have not been idle the last ten years. I am at present on the staff of the Vossische Zeitung, the oldest and best reputed newspaper of Berlin, as musical critic. Am also collaborator of "Denkmäler deutscher Tonkunst," a monumental publication edited by the German government as a sort of museum for the forgotten works of the old German masters. For this collection, I have edited the works of Hieronymus Praetorius, a distinguished composer of church-music of Hamburg, who lived till ab. 1630, and the selected works of Andreas Hammerschmidt, the most popular German composer of the 17th century. Till about 1912, my principal studies have been devoted to musical history. Since that time, I have turned more and more towards practical composition. List of my principal works. Musical compositions: published, op. 1, String quartette, Leipzig, Steingraeber; op. 2, 3, Twenty-four songs, Berlin, Alb. Stahl; op. 4, "Chinesisch-Deutsche Jahres-und Tageszeiten," a cycle of eight songs to poems by Goethe, Leipzig, F. Hofmeister. Still in manuscript: op. 5, twelve hymns, poems by Hölderlin, for voice and piano, partly voice and orchestra; op. 6, "Hero and Leander," symphonic poem for orchestra; op. 7, string-quintette; op. 8, twenty songs to poems by Richard Dehmel; op. 9, six romantic songs; op. 10, symphony for orchestra; op. 11, "Ein Sommertag" cycle of ten poems for women's chorus and small orchestra; op. 12, suite for violoncello solo; op. 13, sonata for viola and piano. Books: Chopin biography, Berlin, 1905, Schlesische Verlagsanstalt; Geschichte der Motette, Breitkopf and Haertel, Leipzig, 1908; Ambros: History of music, vol. IV., of this famous standard work, revised and considerably enlarged by the results of my own historical research, Leipzig, 1909, F. G. C. Leuckart; "Deutsche Hausmusik aus Vier Jahrhunderten" Berlin, 1907, Marquardt and Company, Musikalische Formenlehre, Breitkopf and Haertel, Leipzig, 1912. Member: International Society of Music, Harvard Club of Berlin, Society for the Study of Dutch History of Music, Amsterdam.

I left Boston for Telluride, Col., in 1900. Went into mining, in the Caltor place and stayed until December, 1901, when I left for San Fernando, Durango, Mexico, to take a position as assistant manager of the Fernando Mining Company, Was assistant manager three years, and manager two years, when the mine was finally exhausted. I was then offered position as general superintendent of a mine in Sonora, which I accepted, but as the place was entirely unsafe for my family to be with me, I left and returned to Telluride, Col., where I went into mining on my own account for six years. The altitude, (9000 feet), however, proving too high for comfort, I left the West, and am now treasurer of the Pennsylvania Textile Company, with office in New York City.

I was instructor in Psychology at Radcliffe, 1894-1898. Instructor in experimental Psychology at Harvard, 1896-1898. Professor of Psychology in the State Normal School, Oshkosh, Wis., 1898-1901. Since then Professor of experimental Psychology and Methods in the School of Pedagogy, New York University, also Secretary of the School of Pedagogy, Director of the Summer School, and Director of the Division for extra mural teaching. I am interested with Edward A. Bailey, ex. '91, in grape fruit groves in Porto Rico. We are shipping 400 to 600 boxes under "The Colonial Winner" brand and "top the market" with gratifying regularity. I planned and built at University Heights the first fireproof, (hollow tile) residence erected in the state. Had to change building code to do it. The house which is the prototype of the modern hollow tile residence was described in the leading Architectural magazines. I have written: "Experimental Psychology in Vocational Guidance," in Proceedings Second National Conference on Vocational Guidance; "College Tests to Aid in Vocational Guidance," New Haven Conference, Religion Education Association, March, 1914; "College Requirements and the Secondary Curriculum," Educational Conference held at the University of Vermont in connection with the inauguration of Guy Potter Benton as President of the University. I am a member of a number of general professional societies and of a golf club, and a member of the National Council of D. K. E. Fraternity, 1909-10.

Since the last report, I have remained steadfastly at work in a district where the people with whom I come in contact are to a greater degree in abject misery and poverty than in my own home or any community in which I have lived or worked. At the start the work was interesting. Now with my increasing knowledge of conditions, it is a constant source of worry (because of what I am unable to accomplish), and is rather burdensome at times. To help our Class Secretary keep in touch with our fellow-classmates, I have placed many of the Class of '94 on my Christmas subscription list and write them every Christmas. The results on the whole, have been cheering, varying from indignation and charges of fraud, to glorious words of praise and the golden cheer of a negotiable check. I shall endeavor to be in good lip about next June, and perhaps be able to borrow a new cornet, so I hope the Class Committee will be in sufficient funds to provide a band for me to play with every day of our celebration. I have written: Annual reports of my dispensary work. Member: Harvard Club of Boston.

James Athanasius McDonald

Born	Charlestown, Mass., May 19, 1871.
Parents	James Athanasius, Anne (Sprague) McDonald.
School	Harvard School, Charlestown, Mass.; Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College	1890-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894; LL.B., 1897.
Died	Dec. 1, 1910.

James Athanasius McDonald was born in Charlestown, Mass., May 19, 1871. He was the son of the late James A. McDonald (M.D., 1866), and Anne (Sprague) McDonald. He was a direct descendant, in the ninth generation, of William Sprague, one of the three brothers who founded Charlestown, and also of Increase Nowell, long secretary of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, who, through his sons, Samuel (1653) and Alexander (1664), was intimately connected with the pioneer history of Harvard College. McDonald received his preliminary training at the Harvard School, Charlestown, and the Boston Latin School, from which he was graduated in 1890. Entering Harvard, he received his A.B. degree in 1894, magna cum laude, with honorable mention in history. He was graduated, cum laude, from the Harvard Law School in '97. After his admission to the Massachusetts Bar, he was appointed instructor in law at the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C., serving under the late Judge Robinson. His especial task, performed with great brilliancy and success, was to establish in this University, the Case System of the Harvard Law School. Returning to Boston, he took up the general practice of law, and was associated with the firm of Morse and Kenny. One of his best known cases (U. S. vs. Taylor), attracted much attention as it involved a situation without precedent in international law. It was so well handled as to win him, not only his case, but the interest and admiration of many of the older men in his profession. In 1903 and 1905, he represented the fifth Suffolk district in the Legislature. Through the long service of his father upon the School Committees of Charlestown and Boston (1872-1905), McDonald took an especial interest in school affairs. In 1905, he secured a million and a half dollars for school buildings in Boston, although the majority of his committee (Cities) was much opposed to it. He also introduced the bill reducing the Boston School Committee to five members, and was largely responsible for its passage. In the autumn of 1904, he was stricken with a chronic nervous affection, which after a time obliged him to give up the practice of his profession. He died at the old family home in Charlestown, December 1, 1910, having borne his long sufferings with patience and courage. In college, he was a hard student, courteous and generous, untiring in the service of others. As a lawyer, his deep professional learning and his particularly penetrating mind were recognized by his colleagues, and gave promise of a rich fulfilment.

Business	Manager American Smelting and Refining Company.
Address	100 West 9th St., Leadville, Col.

In business in Kansas City, Mo., as business manager and treasurer of the Kansas City Times. Resigning this position, I was employed in the traffic department of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad Company, and then accepted employment as traffic manager of the Consolidated K. C. Smelting and Refining Company. When merged with the American Smelting and Refining Company, I was appointed assistant manager of its Argentine Plant near Kansas City, Mo. In 1901, transferred to Denver, and in 1902, from Denver to Leadville as manager of the Arkansas Valley Plant and the Leadville District. Last year, my duties were extended in connection with ore purchasing to most all the mining camps in Colorado. Had a delightful motor trip from Naples through Genoa, Monte Carlo, Geneva, Dijon and Paris to London and England in April and May, 1913. Much work is being planned for this section of Colorado in the improvement of its highways. When I was in Cambridge, my landlady of college days was most solicitous as to my business, and I explained that it had to do with the smelting of argentiferous lead ores. "Ah," says she, "smelting, why, that's what we do down on Cape Cod—we can smelts." Member: University Club, Denver, Colo.

Percy Howland De Mauriac

Born Flushing, L. I., N. Y., Dec. 2, 1872.
Parents Eugene A., Susan (Parsons) de Mauriac.
School Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H.
Years in College 1890-1894.
Degrees A.B., 1894 (1895).
Died Jan. 12, 1913.

In the death of Percy Howland de Mauriac, '94 loses one of its most popular and loyal members. He died of pneumonia after a brief illness of only one day, in Providence, R. I., on January 12, 1913. Percy was born in Flushing, Long Island, N. Y., December 2, 1872. His mother was Susie Howland Parsons, and his father a prominent member of the New York Stock Exchange, Eugene A. de Mauriac. He prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy, among his classmates being Carroll T. Bond, Ogden Harrison, Louis Hall, Newman, Gage, and Marshall Newell of revered memory. Percy roomed during his entire college course with "Mattie" Bond and their rooms were a gathering place for their many friends. At college his distinguishing trait was his interest in the class and his mates. He was a member of the Institute of 1770. Upon leaving college, Percy went to New Bedford, Mass., where he learned the cotton yarn and worsted business by entering the Howland Mills at the very bottom. He worked hard there for several years and then became connected with a well-known commission house of Boston, and was in their employ for many years. At the time of his death, he had accepted a responsible position with a prominent New York firm and was looking forward to living with his father in New York. In Boston, Percy maintained his old friendships and made many new ones. For a long time he was a member of the Puritan Club. He was conspicuous for his social disposition and a warm, lovable personality. Always bright, warm-hearted and sympathic, of gentle birth and breeding, generous to a fault, and of winning ways and manners, Percy de Mauriac leaves behind him a host of warm friends and affectionate memories.

Guy Metcalf died June 7, 1911, at Hyannisport, Mass., where he had spent his summers for two years. He had been in poor health for some time, passing several winters in the South. He was born in Providence, R. I., November, 19, 1873, the son of Alfred Metcalf and Rosa (Clinton) Metcalf. He prepared for college in the Providence public schools. At college he was specially interested in Modern Languages, Economics and History and graduated cum laude, with Honorable Mention in History and Political Science. Leaving Harvard, he entered the office of the Wanskuck Company in Providence, but on account of ill health was obliged to give up the position. He took two sailing voyages around the world. In 1904, he graduated from the University of Michigan Law School, with the degree of LL.B. He was offered a position on the faculty of the law school of the University of Michigan, but declined it. For a year he was associated in Cleveland with the law firm of M. B. and H. H. Johnson. He was admitted to the bar in Rhode Island and also to practise in the United States Court. He married, September 8, 1900, Clare Louise Burt of Cleveland, Ohio, who with a daughter, Rosa Clarissa Metcalf, survives him. His first child, Alfred Metcalf, born at Ann Arbor, Michigan, July 2, 1903, died on December 29 of the same year. He was a member of the Hope Club, the University Club, the Agawam Hunt, the Harvard Club and several other organizations.

Business	Farmer.
Address	R. F. D. No. 2, Shelburne, Vt.

Since writing you last, I have had an uneventful life. In 1911, I purchased a small place on Shelburne Point, Lake Champlain, built a home and have been coaxing the soil without, so far, any marvelous results. "Back to the farm" sounds good but don't go back until you join the class subject to the Income Tax. A trustee of Phillips Andover, Vice-President of the Vermont Harvard Club, an interest in a local Coal Company, and an automobile "repair shop," treasurer of the Park Company of New York and two estates to look after keep me in touch with men. These, with a local Improvement League, the Champlain Yacht Club, and a strong and active dislike for the Progressive Party, help to pass the time between chores. As a final resort against stagnation, I have books and the Appletree pests. For exercise there is ready at hand the wood-lot, and very often a refractory automobile to crank. For three years after graduation, I taught at my father's school, which was then located in Buffalo, New York. I then entered the Buffalo Law School, being at the same time in the law office of Ralph E. Heard. I graduated with the degree of LL.B. in 1899, and was the same year admitted to the Bar of New York State. For the next two years I was with the Hon. Charles B. Wheeler, now Supreme Court Justice. In 1902, I went to New York City in the legal department of the Erie Railroad Company, becoming later land and tax agent. I resided in Montclair, N. J., and was a member of the Harvard Club of New York City. In September, 1907, I returned to general law practice in Buffalo as junior member of the firm of Heard, Babcock and Nichols. By withdrawal shortly afterwards of Mr. Babcock the name of the firm became and still is Heard and Nichols. I am a member of the Saturn, Harvard, Park, Buffalo Canoe, Lawyers', and Phi Delta Phi Clubs, and of the Erie County Bar Association.

I have made my chief aim to enlarge and perfect my business connections in the wholesale grain business. This fact has forced several western and Canadian trips on business which fill out spare time. I have neither sought nor been sought for political positions, for which I am duly thankful. I am now serving on Board of Managers of Portland Provident Association. I was elected two years ago Trustee of Kent's Hill Seminary, my alma mater. As time passes on, I find greater delight in my friendships and take this opportunity to invite any '94 men, who find themselves in Portland to come and see me. In 1903, I resigned the ministry of the Episcopal Church. It is hard for me now, looking back, to understand what it was that drove me to a profession for which I was utterly unfitted. In the winter of 1903 to 1904, I was in Rome, Italy, very ill and very lonely, and trying to find out what there was left for me to do in the world. By chance, the next spring, 1905, I came to Innsbruck, into the mountains of Tyrol. I had been told, by a physician at home, that I had heart-trouble. I supposed it incurable. And I have no doubt that, in the nervous condition in which I was at the time, my heart showed neurogene (but not organic) pathological symptoms. I supposed that Innsbruck would be a good place to drop dead in. So I stayed there. After three years, I was much better. By chance, I had myself physically examined by a Professor of the University and he told me there was nothing the matter with my heart at all. I was confronted with the fact that I might go on living for some time. And I did not like the thought of living in idleness. Innsbruck has one of the best medical Faculties in Europe. So, in 1908, I began the study of medicine. For a doctor's degree, one has to work five and a half to six years. I have been hard at it now for almost this period, and, if I survive the rigors of the final examinations, I hope to take my degree from the Imperial University of Innsbruck before this coming Christmas. Then, I hope to put in six months as an interne here. After that, I shall be looking for a place where there is lots of work and where there are not enough doctors to do it—especially a place that can with difficulty support a physician, as I have a little money and make something too by writing. If any of my old classmates knows of such a job - - - I may add that for a year, I was Britsh Vice-Consul here in Innsbruck. 'Twasn't much of a job. Such appointments are made in small Anglo-American colonies, honoris causa, and have no salaries attached to them. It has not been easy, starting on a new profession at my age. But, since I began medical work, I have begun to live. And all I ask is that I may be allowed a few years in which to be of some small use to the world in some small corner of it. From this old "Schloss" in Tyrol, where I live so far away from Harvard, I send you all greetings of good cheer at our twentieth Reunion. Member: Innsbrucker Herrn Klub, The Incorporated Society of Authors, London.

FREDERICK LAW OLMSTED

In 1910, I was appointed by President Taft a member of the (unpaid) Commission of Fine Arts, established by Congress in that year as general adviser to committees of Congress and officers of the Government in regard to questions of art, with special reference to questions arising in the District of Columbia. At this writing I am vice-chairman of the commission. It meets about once a month in Washington, and passes upon a great variety of questions. A committee of Congress having before it a bill to purchase a portrait or historical painting or bust asks an opinion as to its value as a work of art. Another committee having before it a bill providing for the erection of a monument partly or wholly at Government expense or upon Government property asks for a report upon the project, sometimes involving a visit by a sub-committee of the Commission to a remote locality. The Panama Canal Bill of 1912 called for a report by the Commission of Fine Arts upon the artistic quality of the structures of the Canal; and the Chairman of the Commission, (Daniel C. French, the sculptor), and I went to Panama for the purpose, not only reporting to Congress on the general subject as directed but at Colonel Goethals's request giving extended advice as to the design of the proposed permanent administrative town of Balboa and other matters of immediate concern. But the major part of the work of the Commission consists in passing upon designs for proposed monuments, public buildings, parks and other works of art and public improvements in the District of Columbia, and in advising the officers in charge of each whether the designs are worthy of execution or whether they should be re-studied in certain particulars before acceptance, or be rejected altogether. Drawings and models are generally submitted to the Commission at its office in Washington; but members of the Commission not infrequently visit the designers' studios or offices in other cities to pass on full size models or to suggest informally the direction in which improvement of the design is to be sought. In 1910, I was elected chairman of the Executive Committee created to arrange for and conduct the Second National Conference on City Planning, and have been re-elected to the same position in successive years for the subsequent meetings of that Conference. In 1911, I was appointed a member of the (advisory and unpaid) Board of Municipal Improvements of the Town of Brookline. In 1914, I was elected a member of the Brookline Planning Board, which superseded the Board of Municipal Improvements. I have published many pamphlets and articles on City

Planning and Landscape Architecture. Member: American Institute of Architects (corresponding member), American Academy of Social and Political Science, American Association of Park Superintendents, American Civic Association, American Forestry Association, American Society of Judicial Settlement of International Disputes, American Society of Landscape Architects, American Society of Municipal Improvements, Appalachian Mountain Club, Association of Harvard Engineers, American Academy in Rome (incorporator), Boston Chamber of Commerce, Boston City Club, Boston Society of Architects (associate member), Boston Society of Landscape Architects, Brookline Anti-Tuberculosis Society, Brookline Education Society, Brookline First Parish Club, Century Association of New York, Cleveland Chamber of Commerce (associate member), Commission of Fine Arts, Deutsche Gesellschaft für Gartenkunst, Harvard Club (Boston), Harvard Club (New York), Harvard Engineering Society of New York, Harvard Travelers' Club, League American Wheelman, Massachusetts Audubon Society, Massachusetts Civic League, Massachusetts Civil Service Association, Massachusetts Forestry Association, Metropolitan Improvement League, Massachusetts Horticultural Society, National Arts Club, National Association of Audubon Society, National Conference on City Planning, National Conservation Association, National Geographic Society, National Housing Association, National Municipal League, Playground and Recreation Association of America, St. Botolph Club, Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests, Tavern Club, Twentieth Century Club, Union Club, Union Boat Club, University Club of Chicago.

Address	2202 De Lancey Place, Philadelphia, Pa.

In December, 1910, I was promoted to Associate in Pediatries in the Department of Medicine, University of Pennsylvania; in November, 1911, I was elected physician to the Medical Dispensary of the Children's Hospital; and in July, 1912, I became acting assistant diagnostician (Division of Contagious Diseases), in the Philadelphia Board of Health. Most of my time is devoted to the medical diseases of children. We removed in 1909, to 118 South Twenty-Second St., and in August, 1912, to 2202 De Lancey Place, where we shall always be pleased to welcome any '94 men who come to Philadelphia. Although we move out to Woodbine, East Downingtown, for June, July, and August, I am in my office daily. I have published more articles upon pediatries and have gone as far as Dayton, Ohio, to deliver an address upon the diseases of children. Last November a pediatric meeting took me to Boston, where I had not been since June, 1893. I am indebted to Harris Kennedy and Maynard Ladd for a delightful visit. I hope to return again this June. Together with my wife, I was confirmed by the late Bishop Mackay-Smith, in St. James' Protestant Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, in April, 1911. Since that time, I have become much interested in Church work, and teach an adult Bible Class every Sunday.

Since graduation, I established Peacock's School for Boys (college preparatory) at Atlanta. I now have at 41 W. 14th St., Atlanta, my school of about 125 boys in a new modern brick building in every way adapted to my work. While conducting my school I buy real estate in the city. I also conduct a public ginnery at Pavo, Thomas County, Georgia, and a cotton-bale warehouse and grist mill. I spend summer at Pavo, Georgia, putting plans on foot for the cotton season, the gin running from August to January. In January, I have two weeks vcaation when I go to Pavo and close the season's business. Am a steward in First Methodist Church of Atlanta. I am still prosperous with my estate well in advance of what it was in my last report.

M.D., Johns Hopkins, 1898. Resident Pathologist Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, 1898-99. Demonstrator of Pathology, Western Reserve Medical School, Cleveland, 1899-1900. Lecturer in Bacteriology and Assistant in Pathology at Western Reserve University; Associate Editor of Cleveland Medical Journal; Visiting Pathologist to St. Alexis and Mt. Sinai Hospitals, and Assistant Visiting Pathologist to the City Hospital; Assistant Professor, Bacteriology and Pathology, Western Reserve University, 1905-07. Associate Professor of Pathology and Hygiene 1908-1911. Professor of Hygiene, 1911. City Bacteriologist, 1913. Cleveland Filtration Commission, 1913. After 1906, my interest in Public Health questions was much strengthened by a term as Substitute Director of the Cleveland Health Department Laboratories, and as a result the appointment as Associate Professor of Pathology and Hygiene followed. In the development of Hygiene in the University, the post of Professor of Hygiene and Preventive Medicine was created, and I was given a year's leave of absence to study Public Health questions abroad. The work was carried on in England and on the continent, and on my return the post was given me. In the beginning of 1913, the position of City Bacteriologist was offered me, and permission was given by the Medical School authorities to devote part of my time to the work. Of late, my entire time has been given to the development of the Department and to trying to broaden the minds of the students, with all the intervals filled by Committee work along Public Health lines in the Academy of Medicine, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Health Department. When the Filtration Commission was appointed to care for the matter of filtering the city supply, my former activities in inducing the Administration to disinfect the dangerous lake water led to my appointment as a member, and the fact that the filtration plant is now under construction, is a beacon of hope in the darkness of political health development. I have published: articles on Bacteriology, Pathology and Hygiene in a variety of medical magazines. Member: Kappa Alpha Fraternity, University Club, Mayfield Country Club, Hermit Club, City Club, Cleveland Academy of Medicine, American Medical Association, American Public Health Association, American Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Great Lakes International Pure Water Association.

School	Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.
Years in College	1890-1894.

George Robinson Philbrook, son of Reverend Nathan Page Philbrook and Hannah Hill (Sanborn) Philbrook, was born at Northfield, New Hampshire, July 13, 1867, and died at Wheeling, West Virginia in February, 1907. He attended the district school of his native town and later entered Phillips Academy at Andover, from which he was graduated in 1888. After a year of teaching he entered Harvard in the fall of 1890, as a member of the Class of 1894. During the freshman year he won the Sargent Prize for a metrical version of Horace, and also held the scholarship of the Class of 1814. Philbrook was a man of great natural reserve and dignity, seeking rather the quiet enjoyment of his books and thoughts, than the activities of athletics or the pleasure of social life. Sober, serious work took all his time and thoughts and while never shunning friendships he rarely, perhaps partly from shyness, sought them. Owing partly to ill health Philbrook was unable to continue with the class through the four years. He taught and studied at several institutions in the Eastern states and returned to Cambridge in 1899, to receive his degree as of the Class of 1894.

Since 1909, have continued to serve as Professor of Latin in Harvard University. The last Class Report, with its obiter dicta on the Elective System from almost all members of the Class, was of some service in the Faculty debate on the new curriculum for undergraduates. I am still a member of the Committee (on Electives), which with President Lowell as its chairman, devised the new plan, and I still have charge of the diplomas and the Latin correspondence of the University. Other administrative duties I have gladly relinquished. In 1912-13, I was appointed annual professor at the American School of Classical Studies, now a part of the American Academy, in Rome, lecturing at the School and supervising the work of several students in the Vatican library. Before and after our winter in Rome, we traveled extensively in England, France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Greece, Crete, Sicily, Switzerland, Belgium and Holland, part of the itinerary being determined by the manuscripts which I wished to examine. Best of all was Rome itself. It is disappointing at first, with its modern incrustations, which one has to excavate to find the genuine Rome. Once found, the eternal city, both ancient and modern, clutches the heart-strings with a grip that time does not loose. Every week or so, we made excursions into the Campagna or to places nearby, such as Tusculum, Nemi, Albano, Veii, Soracte and Horace's farm. A most useful companion in our wanderings was a commodious and miraculously extensible suit-case, presented to me by my good classmates before I left this shore. In religion, am Episcopalian, with a growing attachment to Pre-reformation practices and views. In politics, have discovered with some certainty, after the achievements of the present administration, that I am a Republican. Have published various articles or monographs on Classical and Mediaeval subjects, and with E. H. Wilkins "Dantis Alagherii Operum Latinorum Concordantiae," Oxford, Clarendon Press, 1912. Fellow of American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Trustee and Member of Executive Committee of the American Academy in Rome. Member: American Philological Association, Archaeological Institute of America, New England Classical Association, Colonial Society of Massachusetts, Dante Society of Cambridge, Cambridge Scientific Club, Shop Club, Harvard Club of Boston, Harvard Union, Colonial Club, honorary member of Digamma and Stylus Clubs.

School	Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.
Years in College	1890-1892; 1893-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894 (1895); LL.B., 1897.
Married	Julia Genevra Perkins, Petersburg, N. Y., Sept. 22, 1904.
Died	May 24, 1912.

Everett Clinton Roché, son of John J. Roché and Morgianna (Shepard) Roché was born at Boston, Mass., August 13, 1869, and died at Cambridge, May 24, 1912. He prepared for college at Phillips Academy at Andover, and entered Harvard in the fall of 1890. After graduation he attended the Harvard Law School for three years, and then having passed the examinations for admission to the Massachusetts Bar, entered the office of Hurlburt, Jones and Cabot. With this firm, first as student and later as assistant he remained for the greater part of his active life as lawyer. During the first eight years of his practice he had a class in French in the Boston Evening High School. Always cheerful, always unassuming, deprecating too much perhaps his own value, and never shirking responsibility, Roché met the problems of life as they presented themselves, with an earnest endeavor and unswerving courage. Never of a strong constitution he gave the best that was in him to the work which lay nearest his hand without a thought of the cost to himself. As a lawyer his tastes, naturally studious, led him to the preparation rather than the trial of causes and his judgment on questions of law and of evidence, especially in land damage cases, was highly valued by his associates. He was married, at Petersburg, New York, on September 22, 1904, to Julia Genevra Perkins, who survives him.

I still spend the most of my waking hours on the job of Assistant City Editor of the Boston Post. Being responsible for the detail of the City Desk and—under the City Editor—for all the local news published in the sheet, I am somewhat busy. What spare time I have—and the days are not half long enough for the work I have planned—I spend in hack work for magazines and in publicity. I take great pleasure and find profit in good magazine work, but cannot find time for much. I have had considerable success with stories in boys' magazines. The ideals we were taught at Harvard, I must confess, have received many severe "jolts" since I began work in the world. I have, however, boiled them down to a working basis. For me they consist of a strenuous and ever alert attempt to make the Post clean, readable and accurate; which is a task when one is responsible for the work of twenty-five or more men, many of whom, in their keenness for a good story are apt to stretch points and facts to the limit! My work is nerve-racking, exacting and mentally exhausting; yet it is full of action, new every day and most fascinating. I enjoy it. And that is a whole lot. I belong to no clubs, societies or organizations. Positions of honor and trust, so-called, are rarely held by us active newspapermen. Sometimes they come to us; but we have to put them by. We have no time. We are "on the job" at the end of a telephone, practically twenty-four hours a day. And when a big story breaks, like the Titanic horror, we live in the office until it is cleaned up. My whole life is centered on my work and on my home. Perhaps I am getting two-sided, but there's neither rust nor moss on either side! And I can truthfully say that I am happy. After all, that is the main thing.

William Harvey Rush

Born	New Madison, Ohio, Jan. 9, 1866.
Parents	Harvey, Lily (Porter) Rush.
Years in College	1893-1895.
Degrees	A.B., 1894 (1895); A.M., 1895; S.B. (University of Michigan), 1893.
Died	June 2, 1911.

William Harvey Rush, son of Harvey and Lily Porter Wilson Rush, was born near New Madison, Ohio, January 9, 1866. After passing through the county schools and after a few months' teaching he went to the University of Michigan, where for six years he worked along scientific lines, doing much individual research work. From this institution he graduated in 1893, with the degree of Bachelor of Science. The two years following were spent at Harvard University, where he took his Master's Degree in 1895, together with the degree of A.B. as of 1894. In the fall of 1895, he went to St. Louis, Mo., to take a position as Teacher of Botany in Washington University. In the institution he began the study of medicine; after five years of teaching and studying, he graduated in medicine in 1901. The next year was spent as interne in the City Hospital. He went to Berlin, Germany, in September, 1902; here he spent one year in research work in Dr. Boas' clinic. Returning to St. Louis he was Assistant Professor of Internal Medicine in Washington University until 1910, during which time he also engaged in the practice of medicine until the time of his death which occurred June 2, 1911.

I find I am a mystery in this catalogue. I break the silence of procrastination and neglect, and enlighten the class of '94 as to my whereabouts. I left the Graduate School of Harvard without qualifying for a degree, and began to study the theory of music, etc., with George W. Chadwick in Boston. I soon embarked upon a long and laborious career of playing the organ and training choirs in church, Old South, Worcester; Emmanuel, Boston; Church of Our Saviour, Brooklyn; All Souls Unitarian, New York; Madison Ave. Reformed, New York; Madison Ave. Presbyterian Church, and finally St. George's Church, New York. At the same time I studied piano, voice, and theory, was director of music, Newark High School, Newark, N. J., for ten years; and director of music Polytechnic Preparatory School, Brooklyn, N. Y., for five years. I am now busily engaged in managing the various musical activities of St. George's Church, a large Episcopal parish on Stuyvesant Square, New York. The members of the Harvard Club in New York have been inflicted with my music in all its forms from the mildly frivolous up to the serious, off and on for a number of years. For two seasons, I "held down" the job of chorister of the Harvard Club, and have assisted at the music of a number of annual dinners. After such an incorrigible silence, I can do no less than to promise to come to the Reunion, which I hereby do, unless some sudden demand is made upon me in connection with my work. Member: Kappa Alpha Society, Williams College; Harvard Club, New York City, (resident); Harvard Club, Boston, (non-resident); Vesper Country Club, (non-resident), Lowell, Mass.; Players' Club, New York City, (resident); Williams' Club, New York City, (resident); The Bohemians, The Musician's Club, New York City.

The firm of Saltonstall, Dodge and Carter was dissolved by mutual consent in the spring of 1910. My classmate Carter and I continue to share offices together. I continue trying a large number of personal injury cases, so-called, for various street railways. Although my family has increased by two, I still have a spare room in my house at Chestnut Hill, to the use of which any '94 man is especially welcome.

Nothing very exciting to report since last advices. I lectured again in the Graduate School of Business Administration at Harvard in 1910 and '11, and lecture somewhat frequently in the Commercial Museum and elsewhere on Geographical and Commercial subjects, frequently illustrated. I was a member of the Organizing Commission for the International Congress of Navigation held in Philadelphia, May, 1912, for which as Chairman of the Committee on Publications, I supervised the preparation of two illustrated books, "Pennsylvania And Its Manifold Activities," and "The Port and City of Philadelphia." I was elected Secretary of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association in 1912, for which I have edited numerous publications. Was appointed Consul for Costa Rica in 1909. I have written: "The Periplus of the Erythraean Sea," Longmans, 1912; "The Periplus of Hanno," Com. Museum, 1912, rev. 1913; "The Parthian Stations of Isidore of Charax," Com. Museum, 1914; "The Descendants of Jacob Schoff, with an account of the German immigration into Colonial New England, privately published, 1910; "Tammuz, Pan and Christ," Chicago, 1913; "Latin American Railways, present and projected," Philadelphia, 1913; etc., etc. Member: University Lodge, No. 610, F. and A. Since the preceeding report, I have been sticking close to my last, giving what energy I have to the development of the Atlantic Monthly. This magazine has grown very fast, and its demands upon my time and thought more than keep pace with its increase. I still hope to retire at sixty-five with a modicum of comfort and a minimum of anxiety, but till then, I trust, I may continue fairly active. I have made several early translations from the French of Balzac and George Sand, and of late have written occasional articles in the Atlantic Monthly. Member: Century Club, New York; Tavern Club, Boston; Union Club, Boston; Various local Social organizations.

James Joseph Sheppard

Born	Panola, Ill., Jan. 1, 1868.
Parents	David, Nancy (Hayes) Sheppard.
School	University Normal and High School, Normal, Ill.
Years in College	1891-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894.
Married	Rena French Masters, July 12, 1905.
Died	March 12, 1914.

Sheppard prepared for college at the University Normal and High School, Normal, Ill. Upon graduating there in 1891, he was admitted to the Sophomore class at Harvard. While in Harvard, he specialized in Political Science with the idea of studying law. In the Law School, he was a member of the Pow Wow Club. Shortly before graduation, he was invited to take the principalship of the Decatur (Illinois) High School, and while not abandoning the idea of a career in the law, soon became much interested in school work. He remained in Decatur three years. In 1896, he was elected president of the high school section of the Illinois State Teachers' Association. In 1897, high schools were established for the first time in New York City (this was prior to the annexation of Brooklyn), and he was appointed on the basis of a competitive examination to the headship of the department of history and civics in the new Boys' High School. For five years, he occupied that position. During the last two years of the period, he also acted as principal of a branch of the school. In 1902, the much-discussed new High School of Commerce was established and he was made its principal. After some months of investigation of European schools, he prepared a course of study, selected a corps of teachers and began work. The school prospered from the start. He was a director of the New York City Teachers' Association since 1900, president of the New York City High School Teachers' Association 1902-04, president of the Interborough Council of Borough Teachers' Associations from 1907 to date, president of the New York City High School Principals' Association, and had active connection with several other associations. For several years, he was chairman of the Committee on Instruction in Municipal Government in Schools of the National Municipal League. He served two years as chairman of the Committee on Examinations in Commercial Subjects of the New York State Examination Board. He took an active part in school legislation for New York City, going abroad in 1908, as a delegate of the National Civic Federation to inspect European schools, and making other trips to Europe for the same purpose. He was a member of the National Geographic Society, Fellow American Geographical Society, and edited a series of commercial texts for Appleton and Company.

Sheppard died on Thursday, March 12, 1914, after an illness of about two months. For some years, he had suffered from what were merely considered only slight attacks of indigestion, but in January, he developed pernicious anaemia and no hope for his recovery was entertained. The funeral services were held on Monday, March 16th, and were attended by educators of prominence from New York and New Jersey. Dr. John Finley, State Commissioner of Education for New York, and a friend of Dr. Sheppard of long standing, delivered a touching tribute to his character and his worth. Sheppard was a man of great force. He was not a man of many words, but when he spoke he carried conviction, and it was thus that he won his battles, and had his own way. He was an excellent judge of men, and he succeeded in gathering about him one of the strongest corps of teachers in New York City. Perhaps one of the greatest elements of his success was a characteristic refusal to speak ill of the men who were working with him, though at time he must have been sorely tempted to do so. He was fond of boys, but was particularly devoted to little children. In those first days when he first came to live in New York, it was no uncommon sight to see all of the little children who lived in his neighborhood run to greet him when he returned home in the evening. On the long walks which he delighted to take, he could not pass a little boy or girl by without some attention, even at the risk of interrupting a serious line of thought, or of giving up for the moment some school problem which he was "mulling over"—a phrase of his. Above all he loved Harvard. He was the proudest Harvard man I ever knew, and in a way put many of us who rather take Harvard "for granted" to shame. He was a devotee of baseball and delighted in taking part in a game against his own school-boys. For years, he never missed a Harvard-Yale baseball game in New York and every autumn regularly he traveled to Princeton, New Haven and Cambridge to see the football games. "They renew my youth," he said, "and take me out of this nerve-racking routine." A Harvard victory made him joyful for weeks, but a defeat put him in a "blue funk" as he used to say. The principals and teachers of this great city will miss him sorely. He was a tower of strength for us. He had in his make-up a "great big backbone"—a rare article in the anatomy of men in these days of private and public loss of nerve.

In March, 1910, I left Chicago and returned to my home city, Cincinnati. From March, 1909, to December, 1910, was the expert engineer for Short, Stanton, Worthington and Company, bankers of Cincinnati (my father's firm), devoting special attention to the appraisement of Public Utilities, particularly Traction Lines and Steam Railroads. This firm dissolved in December, 1910, and since then, I have been doing consulting engineering, contracting, developing our own coal property and looking for a good permanent job, where I could establish a home once more. From March, 1911, to June, 1911, I spent the time with the vice-president of a large operating coal company in southwestern Virginia. During this time, we took a 200-mile horseback trip over the mountains and through the breaks of the Big Sandy. This was a wonderful scenic trip, and was made for the purpose of inspecting the property holdings of the coal company. The entire route was through the country of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," made famous by John Fox. We checked up John and found that some of the characters of his story actually existed, and that one of the principal desperados had moved out of the state after most of his anatomy had been shot away. We made this trip in five days, averaging thirteen hours a day in the saddle and arrived at headquarters on schedule, after wearing down two horses, two natives, and incidentally ourselves, as we could not sit down comfortably for two weeks. The object of my entire stay was to learn, at first hand, the most approved modern methods of coal mining, and as I spent a great deal of time in the mines this was pretty thoroughly accomplished. I witnessed the first test made of a German invention for "knocking down coal" with a pneumatic and hydraulic cylinder arrangement, that eliminates the use of explosives and all the dangers incident thereto, and it is most interesting to note that this method has not been more universally adopted. Since July, 1911, I have been spending most of my time on my own coal lands in Eastern Kentucky. During that summer (1911), my brothers and I built a Lodge in these wilds and began the opening up of the property, for future development, by the building of roads, trails, and bridges. Ever since, there has been a great deal of field engineering to be done on the property, and I have been doing this myself in addition to prospecting and co-relating the coal seams through the entire property. The country is opening up, so I laid out a railroad bridge, and about two miles of the railroad itself, for a big lumber company, through a rather difficult location that they were not certain of being able to get through easily. My "bluff" worked for the bridge and the railroad have since been built, and are now in operation. In addition laid out a new town and relaid out two of the old existing towns. Therefore have had plenty of out-door work and riding lately. For the last four years have been a consulting engineer for a Pittsburgh Company that owns an "Automatic Train Control" device, that if adopted would prevent all the disasters on the railroad that used to be used so frequently by the '94 bunch, and which is being so discussed at present. With a Harvard man at the head of it this railroad will soon emerge from the woods if the wise-acres leave him alone. Member: Queen City Club, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Since 1909, there have been few changes worthy of mention in a class report. The college in which I teach has greatly increased its resources in buildings and endowment, and in consequence we are able to do a better class of work. In 1913, I published a text-book entitled "Freshman Rhetoric," embodying a somewhat unusual, and in some respects original method of teaching composition. It is used here with success, and has already been adopted by several other colleges. I am a member of the Fortnightly Club, Monday Club, Browning Club, and University Club, all of Rochester. I have been for several years secretary of the Rochester chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, and was convention poet at the national convention of Delta Upsilon in 1913.

There is little to add to the brief statement about myself and my doings which appeared in the last class report. Early in 1908, I was appointed to the Chief Editorship of the House of Cassell. My contract was for three years. At the end of that period, not being wholly satisfied with the conditions under which I was working, I did not see my way to renew my contract formally, and, as conditions did not improve, I left at the end of 1912. The results of (nearly) five years' hard work may be judged, in part, from the balance-sheets of the company from 1908 to date. My release from an office-desk has brought to me a great deal of happiness. It has given me the opportunity to read, to think, to travel, and to enjoy my family in a way that, in busier years, I felt might never come to me. In 1913, I visited the Continent three times, and the United States twice, my last trip home (on pleasure and business combined) taking me to Chicago. I have had "offers," as they say over here, but have not seen fit to accept any. I have done some writing, as of old, for magazines and newspapers. I send a "book" letter regularly to the Boston "Transcript" and an occasional "interview," with an author, to the same journal. My oldest boy is now 17, and I am planning to send him to Harvard this autumn. It is impossible to give a list of the magazine articles which I have written. Most of them have been published in the "Strand" and "Wide World" magazines under many noms de plume. Some of the better-known pseudonyms are George Dollar, Jeremy Broome, Thomas E. Curtis, Arthur Lord, John C. Hodson, Albert Thomas, John R. Watkins, Welland Wright, Emory James, Emile Dessaix, Martin Pierce, Franklin Hayes, George Endell, Albert Harris, Buchanan Grover, Warren Cooper, Theodore Adams, Gerald Quincy, Edmund Dugdale, Arthur Hawes, John Merriman. Occasionally, I published under my own name. Member: Savage Club, London; Whitefriars Club, London; Fireside Club, London.

	(business) Hood Rubber Company, Watertown, Mass.
	(permanent) 3514 Lucas Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

In 1905, I went to California to establish a chemical manufacturing business. The San Francisco earthquake coming shortly after this in April, 1906, caused a business depression which made this impossible. Following this, I had a position as chemist with the Selby Smelter and also with the Hawaiian Sugar Refining Company. In 1909, I returned to St. Louis, where I did some special work in Washington University. After this, I went to Akron, Ohio, as research chemist for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. In the spring of 1912, I came to Massachusetts to work for the Walpole Tire and Rubber Company as chemist. Because of the financial difficulties in which this company became involved, I resigned and accepted a position with the Hood Rubber Company, where I now am. Although I still call myself a chemist my work is now and has been for some time largely that of a tire expert.

After graduation, went to the Harvard Medical School four years. Was interne or medical house officer, then surgical house officer at Children's Hospital, Boston. Following this, was surgical house officer and house surgeon at the Boston City Hospital for two years. For several years assisted Dr. E. H. Bradford of Boston, and now has been in partnership with him over ten years. Some positions have been resigned. The following positions are still held; Orthopaedic Surgeon to the Long Island Hospital, Boston; Assistant Surgeon to the Children's Hospital, Boston; Surgeon to the Burrage Hospital; to the Peabody Home for Crippled and Deformed; to the Massachusetts State Hospital at Canton, Mass. Surgeon-in-Chief to the House of the Good Samaritan, Boston; Instructor in Orthopaedic Surgery, Harvard University. Belong to several city, state, and American medical societies, including the American Orthopaedic Society. Fellow of American College of Surgeons, etc. Have published a number of articles on medical subjects. Summer residence, Four Winds Farm, Walpole, Mass. Member: Harvard Club, Boston; Tennis and Racquet Club, Boston; Union Club, Boston.

Henry Garrettson Spooner

Born	Boston, Mass., Feb. 17, 1871.
Parents	Henry Thomas, Florence (Garrettson) Spooner.
School	Hopkinson's School, Boston, Mass.
Years in College	1890-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894; M.D., 1897.
Married	Katherine Codman Soley, Boston, Mass., Nov. 9, 1899.
Children	Eleanor Garrettson, Aug. 16, 1902.

Henry Garrettson Spooner was the son of Henry T. and Florence (Garrettson) Spooner, and was born on February 17, 1871, in Boston, Mass., where he prepared for college at Hopkinson's School. His father was a direct descendant of John Alden, of Colonial times. Spooner graduated from the Harvard Medical School in 1897, took post-graduate courses in Vienna and Berlin, and practised surgery in Boston, 1898-1901, and New York, 1901-06, lecturing and writing a number of articles on medical subjects, details of which appear in the 1909 Class Report. He was founder and first editor of the American Journal of Urology, the official organ of the American Urological Association, and the first journal in the English language to consider exclusively genito-urinary diseases. He was at one time Assistant-Surgeon to the Presbyterian Hospital and Post-Graduate School of Medicine, N. Y., and editor of the genito-urinary section of the Post-Graduate Medical Magazine. The last few years of his life were passed largely at an orange plantation he owned at Stanton, Fla. While still in school, he became a member of the Union Boat Club of Boston, and always took an active interest in rowing, to which he devoted himself with the enthusiasm which marked all his pursuits. This enthusiasm and the affection he felt for his friends were strong characteristics. He died May 2, 1911, and was buried from the Church of the Advent, where he had served as altar-boy. He married, November 9, 1899, Miss Katharine Codman Soley, of Boston, who with a daughter, Eleanor Garrettson Spooner, born August 16, 1902, survives him.

Address	18 Sumner Road, Cambridge, Mass.

In 1898, I studied in England, holding a traveling fellowship. In the autumn of 1898, I returned to Harvard as assistant in Economics, in which capacity I had the satisfaction of being of some slight use to Professor Dunbar, in his last years. From this, its lowest rung, I began the toilsome ascent of the academic ladder. From 1899 to 1901, I served as an annual instructor, then came three years as a faculty instructor; and in 1904, I was appointed to an Assistant Professorship in Economics. In 1905, I resigned this position, to accept a professorship in the Tokio Imperial University. After three years in the Orient—a delightful episode—I accepted an invitation to return to Harvard as an Assistant Professor, on second appointment, in Banking and Finance in the Graduate School of Business Administration, and in March, 1913, I was appointed Edward Cogswell Converse Professor of Banking and Finance. I have written two books, a "History of Crises Under the National Banking System," and "Banking Reform in the United States." Member: Boston Harvard Club, American Economic Association.

In 1909, September, I became Master of the Somerville Evening High School in addition to my day work. This school with its opportunity to assist from seven hundred to one thousand pupils each year, was one of the most delightful and inspiring experiences of my life. Upon the consolidation of the two day high schools of the city in 1911, I was made Head of the Preparatory Course, and Chairman of the Board of Educational Supervision in the High School. This work was much to my taste, as it meant supervision and direction of all pupils planning to go to higher institutions of learning. In the winter of 1913, I was elected to the Principalship of the High School in Dedham, Mass., and resigned my various Somerville positions to accept. Assumed my duties, March 31, 1913. Have a school of over three hundred pupils which affords a problem of interest. Member: High School Masters' Club of Massachusetts, Men's Club of First Congregational Church of Dedham, Dedham Village Improvement Association, The Society, in Dedham, for the Apprehension of Horse Thieves. During 1911-1913, was President of the Universalist Sunday School Association, Sabbath School Union, am President of the Massachusetts Universalist.

After graduation, went at once to the Boston Evening Transcript as news writer on the city staff, following similar work during the two preceding summers. From 1896 to 1898, was political and legislative reporter for that paper; later handling the automobile news department, and eventually railroad and commercial news, certain special articles, and occasional editorials down to 1908. On November 2, left the Transcript to take a position as news editor with The Christian Science Monitor, which began publication as a general daily newspaper at Boston on November 25, that year. Early in 1909, became assistant to the managing editor of this paper, later taking the title of Assistant Managing Editor, as at present. A list of publications could include for me only a few articles in the minor magazines, aside from contributions to newspapers. From 1897 until 1906, was editor and part owner of The Chelsea Gazette, a weekly suburban newspaper in partnership with John L. Wright. We lived from February, 1904, until June, 1908, at Reading, Mass., then moved to Andover, Mass. Relocation of business took us to Newton Highlands from 1910 until 1912, since when we have been in Cambridge. Politics: Independent. Religion: Christian Science. Travel: Holland, Belgium, Northern France, England, all in 1903.

Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 217 Rich Ave., Mount Vernon, N. Y.
	(business) 32 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

I have continued the active practice of my profession. My firm since January, 1911, has been Liebmann and Tanzer. Outside of the general practice of the law, my principal activity has been concerned with legislation. As Chairman of the Charter Committee of the Citizen's Union of the City of New York (a sub-committee of the Union's Committee on Legislation), I have taken an active part in discussing, and often in favoring or opposing, much of the proposed legislation of recent years affecting the City of New York, and more especially the several draft charters for the city, the Ivins Charter in 1909, the Hammond Charter in 1910, and the Gaynor Charter and the Cullen-Foley Charter in 1911; the last two of these, I spent much time in aiding to defeat. Among other measures of importance in which I have been actively concerned were the act passed in 1907, which reorganized the Municipal Court of the City of New York; the amendment of the State Constitution adopted in 1909, which excluded from the constitutional debt limit for cities the amount of debt incurred for public improvements, producing a revenue sufficient to make them self-sustaining, and the act passed in 1910 to carry that amendment into effect; and legislation proposed in 1913, to effect reforms in the New York City Police Department in accordance with the recommendations of the so-called Curran Committee of investigation of the board of aldermen. As counsel for the Municipal Government Association, I have drawn and co-operated in the drafting of several bills intended to grant to cities a larger measure of home rule: one of them, greatly enlarging the powers of cities over their local affairs, became law in 1913. In the winter of 1912-1913, under retainer from the New York State Factory Investigating Commission, I took charge of the drafting of upwards of twenty-five bills proposed by that Commission for the improvement of labor conditions, more particularly in factories; substantially all of this legislation has been enacted into law. I have also acted as a member of advisory bodies dealing with legislation, among them the Law Committee of the Allied Real Estate Interests of New York City, and the Committee on Lighting Legislation of the Illuminating Engineering Society (a national organization). I have written the following articles: "The Tammany-Gaynor Charter," National Municipal Review, Jan., 1912; "The Home Rule Bill—Its Scope and Effect," Bench and Bar, April, 1913; "Legislative Interference in Municipal Affairs and the Home Rule Programme in New York," National Municipal Review, Oct., 1913; "The Proposed Commission Form of Government for Mount Vernon," address delivered April 17, 1911, before the Temple Club of Mount Vernon, N. Y., and published by it. Member: Association of the Bar of the City of New York, New York County Lawyers' Association, New York State Bar Association, American Society of International Law, City Club of New York, Reform Club, Phi Beta Kappa Alumni in the City of New York, Alumni of the Law School of Columbia University.

Address	(home) Sigourney St., Jamaica Plain, Mass.
	(business) Care of Brewer and Company, Worcester, Mass.

Have been in the chemical business most of the time since graduation from college, and developed a hobby in attempting to help work out the problems of economizing our lumber resources. Have started one enterprise which is now successfully running and is helping to save lumber, and have two more in view, which are devoted to the same purpose. The connection between lumber and chemistry is not clear at first sight, but it is enough to say that substitutes for lumber depend on chemical processes. Have organized Fearlore Company of America, which has a plant at Ayer, Mass., for the manufacture of sizings for Paper Textile Trades, and other purposes. Am business manager and Treasurer of this company. Married	Edith Mary Babcock, Natick, Mass., July 15, 1898 (died Nov. 6, 1908).
Died	Aug. 6, 1913.

Rev. Alonzo Ferdinand Travis was born in Natick, Mass., March 9, 1871. He was the son of Alonzo Franklin and Grace Lowe (Preston) Travis. He prepared for college at Natick and Wellesley High Schools. After graduation, Travis spent one year at Union Theological Seminary, New York, with his last two years at the Hartford Theological Seminary. June 15, 1898, he married Miss Edith M. Babcock, of Natick, Mass., who died November 6, 1908, at Hopkinton. In September, 1910, he married Dr. Marguerite A. Willey, of Boston. July 16, 1913, a son, Earle Ferdinand, was born; only three weeks later, on the morning of August 6, Travis was taken ill while bathing in the ocean at Duxbury Beach, and died before leaving the water. His funeral was held in the Congregational Church at Natick, Mass., followed by a Memorial Service in New York the following October. Travis proved his abounding love for mankind by giving up ordinary pastoral work to assume the position of Director of Religious Work at the 23rd St. Y. M. C. A., of New York City, in September, 1910. This Association included four thousand members, of whom about three hundred lived in the building. To these men he became pastor, friend, and brother in actual life. All classes of men and boys, both locally and countrywide, called upon him for all sorts of service, and his great heart gave unsparingly to all. His extraordinary success is attested by the ever-increasing inquiries and demands made upon him, so that he was obliged to sacrifice home life and rest to help his fellowmen. Truly his life was not only busy, but beautiful, lived in the spirit of the Master, whom he loved and served. His memory will live long in the hearts of all who were fortunate enough to touch him. Though Travis' life in college was one of hard work and close application, he found time to cultivate those virtues which later blossomed into fruitage, and brought honor to his Alma Mater. His quiet, pure, refined character indicated his large heart and unbounded loyalty to every endeavor for uplifting others. A keen sense of humor, always in reserve, with a cheerful disposition, made Travis a most pleasant companion, a most trusted friend, and one of our most honored members of the Class of 1894.

Business Address	Agriculture. Newton St., Weston, Mass.

After finishing my two years contract in the scientific department of Johnson and Johnson, New Brunswick, N. J., I entered the concern of King and Sherer Company, New York which was still along surgical and medical lines. In the late spring of 1911, changes in personal conditions made it possible and desirable to buy a small farm in the town of Weston, Mass., and since then, I have devoted my time principally to working my place, and looking after my family which includes, as well as some interesting human animals, cows, horses, hogs, goats, etc. Outside of my children, some fine milch goats are the most interesting stock on my place.

	(business) 31 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

Since my last report, I have continued working in the cause of International Peace. I have found in it a fruitful opportunity for study. In June, 1910, I took my degree of Doctor of Philosophy, in International Law and Diplomacy, from Boston University, the subject of my principal thesis being "The Peace Movement and the Hague." Several chapters of this thesis have since been printed in the Yale Law Journal, from which in turn they have been reprinted in pamphlet form and widely circulated. I read a paper before the American Society of International Law in April, 1912, on "A Permanent Court of International Justice," which is a subject to which I have given much attention. In December, 1913, I read before the American Society for Judicial Settlement of International Disputes, a paper on "Historic Proposals for an International Court." I have become interested in the promotion of the celebration of the Century of Peace with Great Britain, and have prepared an illustrated lecture on the subject. Materials for this lecture, I gathered in Great Britain, Canada, and at Ghent, as well as at home. I have attended all the National American Peace Congresses, New York 1907, Chicago 1909, Baltimore 1911, Saint Louis 1913. I have also attended the International Peace Congresses held at Munich, 1907; London, 1908; Geneva, 1912; and The Hague, 1913. I served as one of the secretaries at the Interparliamentary Union Conference in 1913, and was present at the dedication of the Peace Palace at The Hague. Since the re-organization of the American Peace Society, which has moved its national headquarters to Washington, I have served as Secretary of the Massachusetts Peace Society and Director of the New England Department of the American Peace Society, with headquarters at 31 Beacon St., Boston. Member: Boston City Club, Boston; Twentieth Century Club, Boston; American Society of International Law, American Society for Judicial Settlement of International Disputes, American Political Science Association, American Academy of Political and Social Science.

ELIOT TUCKERMAN

Born	New York, N. Y., March 12, 1872.
Parents	Gustavus, Emily Goddard (Lamb) Tuckerman.
School	Cutler's School, New York, N. Y.
Years in College	1890-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894; LL.B., 1897.
Unmarried
Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 969 Park Ave., New York, N. Y.
	(business) 32 Liberty St., New York, N. Y.

During the summer of 1897, traveled in Holland, Germany, Switzerland, France and England; returning in October to New York, and entered the office of Evarts, Choate and Beaman. Was admitted to the bar in February, 1898.

Private secretary to the Hon. Joseph H. Choate, and visited him in England. Returned to the office of Evarts, Choate and Beaman, as managing clerk, and in May, 1901, opened an office for the general practice of law. Practice has been very interesting and unusual, although inconspicuous; and distinctly varied, although connected in the main with the care and management of personal property, and the law relating to estates, and the rights of individuals therein. Have been to England on two occasions, other than those mentioned, once on business, and again on the occasion of the ocean yacht race of 1905, as a guest on Dr. Lewis A. Stimson's schooner yacht "Fleur de Lys," sailed by the Gloucester skipper Captain Thomas Bohlin, and a crew of Gloucester fishermen. The little schooner (86 feet long) made the passage in fourteen days and nine hours. Have been much interested in yachting, and have sailed a large number of boats, large and small, and served on various committees, and held several offices, in the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club. Served for more than seven years in the National Guard of the State of New York, as private and corporal in Squadron A Cavalry, and have ridden a great deal for pleasure and exercise. Have been much interested in the Morristown School Foundation, of which I am a Trustee, and, in connection therewith, and with work in the Harvard Club of New York City on various committees and on its Board of Managers, and also with certain undergraduate activities, have kept in as close touch as possible with life at the college. This life has changed superficially in many ways since our day, and in the main for the better. The underlying spirit of Harvard remains unchanged. Member: University, Century, Harvard Club of New York; Harvard Club of Boston, Down Town, New York Yacht, Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht, Squadron A, Association of the Bar of the City of New York, New York County Lawyers' Association, Thursday Evening Club, Member (formerly President) Cutler Alumni Association, Member (formerly President) Graduates' Association of the Delphic Club of Harvard University.

STOYAN KRSTOFF VATRALSKY

Born	Vakarel, Bulgaria, March 25, 1860.
Parents	Krsto Ivantchoff, Rouzha Boneva (Pretopnicova) Vatralsky.
School	American Collegiate Institute, Samokov, Bulgaria.
Years in College	1892-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894.
Married	Vassilka Atanasova Karamanova, Stanimaka, Bulgaria, May 2, 1907.
Business	Writer, Lecturer and Farmer.
Address	Krasnoselo, near Sophia, Bulgaria.

I have been living quietly on my small estate at Krasnoselo, a suburb, three miles west of Sophia, near the Sophia-Knyazhero tram line. My life has been uneventful, hardly differing from that of my neighbors, except in this, that upon occasional invitations, I have delivered public lectures in Sophia and other cities, have published poems and articles, and very rarely, descriptions or interviews have been published about myself and my views. My influence has slowly but steadily grown in the country. Just now, I have been asked to stand for the legislature. I do not expect to be elected; but it is an honor, because I have never been in active politics, and now the radicals have asked my consent to put me on their list of Sophia candidates, believing my name will gain them some votes. During the first Balkan War (1912-1913), I was six months in Great Britain, where I gave addresses and wrote articles in defence of my country's cause. I have written: "Life and Travels in America," a lecture, published, Sophia, 1901; "Friendship," a lecture, published, Sophia, 1904; "Evangelical Songs," (a pamphlet), original and translations, published, Sophia, 1906; "Bitieh," (Life), a book of poems, published, Sophia, 1910; published in various Bulgarian periodicals, but not collected in book form a great many poems, articles, lectures, sketches, upon ethical, religious, political and sociological themes. Vice-President of the Bulgarian National Y. M. C. A., member of the Board of Managers of the English-Speaking residents of Sophia.

FRANCIS COX WALKER

Born	St. John, N. B., Nov. 26, 1873.
Parents	Thomas, Mary Rebecca (Jack) Walker.
School	St. John Grammar School, St. John, N. B.
Years in College	1892-1894.
Degrees	A.B., 1894; A.M., 1902; Ph.D., 1911; B.A. (University of New Brunswick), 1892.
Unmarried
Business	University Instructor.
Address	(home) Washington University, St. Louis, Mo. (permanent) 156 Princess St., St. John, N. B.

By 1909, I began to weary of secondary schools, and came back to Harvard to prepare myself for college teaching, and the almost necessary doctorate. This last, I attained in 1911, less through the soundness of my scholarship, I am convinced, than because of free-hand illustrations attached to a thesis in one course, and a frivolous imitation of the popular ballad submitted in another. From September, 1911, to the present time, I have been working as instructor in English in Washington University, not killing myself with toil and distinguished chiefly, I am afraid, by the lighter parts indicated above. I have held no "offices of honor or trust" beyond the clerical duties which are likely to be thrust upon the student of English by his fellows in graduate school or college faculty. My vacations have been spent as usual except for one summer in the British Isles. I am still unmarried. Member: The "Players" of St. Louis, Faculty Club of Washington University.

Married	Agnes Whitman Damon, Arlington, Mass., Sept. 10, 1901.
Children	Damon Yates, Sept. 6, 1902; Virginia, May 9, 1905.
Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 86 Pleasant St., Arlington, Mass. (business) 850 Tremont Building, Boston, Mass.

Since the date of last report, I have continued the practice of the law, associated with Edward S. Page '95, in Boston. I am counsel and one of the trustees of the Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank. I hold no public office except that of trustee of the Robbins (Public) Library of Arlington, Mass., which I have held for several years. In addition to other organizations and clubs, some of which I enumerated in my last report, I now am a member of the Harvard Club of Boston. I have confined myself almost exclusively to my profession during the last few years, and have sought no elective office since my retirement from the Massachusetts Legislature in the summer of 1906. Though naturally of a conservative turn of mind, and considered a pronounced conservative during my membership in the Legislature, I left that body disappointed and disgusted at the subserviency of the Republican Party to special interests which were attemping to control all really important governmental activities. I was prepared, therefore, to participate at the outset in the formation of the Progressive Party in Massachusetts, and regret only that I have been unable to devote more time than I have to promote what I thoroughly believe to be one of the most wholesome movements we have had in American politics.

Business	Geologist.
Address	(home) 3100 Newark St., Washington, D. C. (business) United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

Nothing very important has happened to me since last report. I have continued my Alaska work. When the class assembles shall be on my seventeenth journey in Alaska. Have traveled about 55,000 miles in Alaska and along its shores. In 1912, President Taft appointed me vice-chairman of the Alaska Railroad Commission, which position I held until the commission dissolved March 1, 1913. As a consequence of the report of the commission, I received the usual amount of abuse to which a public servant is subjected. In April, 1913, I received two gold medals, both for geographical work in Alaska. One was the Peter Daly Gold Medal of the American Geographical Society in New York, the other the Malta-Brun Gold Medal of Geographical Society of Paris, France. Also in 1913, I was an official delegate to International Geological Congress at Toronto and one of the vice-presidents of the congress, a distinction which but few of the visiting geologists escaped. After the congress, I spent a month in travel in Western Canada. I have written: "The Geography and Geology of Alaska" and "The Mount McKinley Region," both publications of the United States Geological Survey; "The Alaska of Today," Review of Reviews, July, 1909; "Applied Geology," Presidential address, Geological Society of Washington, published in the Smithsonian Institution Report for 1912; in 1912, article on "Alaska" in the new International Encyclopaedia, and numerous other publications, chiefly reports of the Geological Survey. Member: Cosmos Club and Harvard Club, Washington, D. C.; Explorers' Club, New York City; Arctic (formerly Alaska) Club, Seattle, Wash.; Fellow Geological Society of America; member American Institute of Mining Engineers, and Mining and Metallurgical Society of America; Fellow American Geographers' Association; Fellow Washington Academy of Sciences, and numerous others of no particular distinction. Am an active member of the Washington Feneers' Club.

ARTHUR JAMES COLLIER

Business	University Professor.
Address	(home) 1018 Hilyard St., Eugene, Ore. (business) University of Oregon, Eugene, Ore.

In 1900, I went on the regular force of the United States Geological Survey, and for the next ten years resided in Washington, D. C., during the winter months, and spent the summers in the field. During this time, I made five trips to Alaska and visited a good many of the states of the Union. In 1910, I accepted the chair of Geology at the University of Oregon, at which place I am now situated. I have written a number of reports on the Geology and Mineral Resources of Alaska, Arkansas, Washington, Idaho and Montana. Member: Eugene Commercial Club, Eugene, Oregon; Geological Society of Washington, D. C.; American Geological Society.

for appendicitis. He was born April 7, 1871; and was a member of a family which has furnished Baltimore valuable and prominent citizens during several generations. He prepared for college at St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., and graduated at Harvard (A.B.), 1894. The next four years he spent at the Johns Hopkins Medical School, at Baltimore, and graduated there (M.D.), with high rank, in 1898. For a little over a year thereafter he was an Interne in the Johns Hopkins Hospital, serving as Acting Superintendent during the vacation of the Superintendent. During the remainder of his life he practised medicine in Baltimore, retaining connection with the Johns Hopkins Medical School, however, as assistant. He was Medical Director of the Maryland Life Insurance Company, Trustee of the Baltimore Orphan Asylum, and of the Hospital for the Women of Maryland, Director of the Society of Social Hygiene, and of the Partridge Home for Sewing Girls, and one of the Vestrymen of Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal Church, Baltimore. He was also a member of the Baltimore Club, and of other social or professional organizations. On November 14, 1901, he married Madeleine L. Gary, of Baltimore, and his wife survives him. There were no children. Whitridge was a man of rare modesty, gentle and wholesome in manner, strong in Christian ideals and spirit. He was most happily married; and he passed his life happily, with the affection of a large number of relatives and friends. From and after this time Whitridge will, in these Reports and in the Quinquennial Catalogue, occupy his place in the constellation of Ninety Four.

Business	President Utah Agricultural College.
Address	Logan, Utah.

In 1907, I returned to the Agricultural College of Utah as its President, which position I still hold. I am a member of the Utah State Board of Education and the State Conservation Commission, and hold, and have held, a variety of minor, though locally important positions. I have devoted only a small portion of my time to business, though I am connected officially with several business enterprises. I take some satisfaction in the part I took in founding and publishing a newspaper, an agricultural weekly, which is doing much good in the state. During the last five years, I have been occupied chiefly with the upbuilding of industrial education in Utah, and the West. I have taken especial interest in the reclamation of the West by Irrigation and Dry-Farming, and in addition to writing many research and popular articles on these subjects, have published two books on the same subjects, viz. "Dry-Farming, A System of Agriculture for Countries Under a Low Rainfall," (1911, Macmillan), and "The Principles of Irrigation Practice," (1914, Macmillan). The former has been translated into French, Spanish, German and other languages. I helped to organize the Dry-Farming Congress and have served as Vice-President and member of the Board of Governors, and was the President of the Congress at its 1912 meeting in Alberta, Can. I get much joy from the work of helping to conquer drouth, for the western "deserts" are rapidly becoming the homes of thousands of happy families. I have written about 20 bulletins of the Utah Experiment Station, and numerous articles of scientific and popular nature. Parents	Noah Noble, Susan Phillips Patterson (Coalscott) Wilson.
School	Illinois State Normal University, Normal, Ill.
Years in College	1891-1894.
Degrees	S.B., 1894.
Unmarried
Business	Teacher.
Address	555 Bramhall Ave., Jersey City, N. J.

I became Principal of the Lincoln High School of Jersey City in September, 1912, and have not been removed. I teach ten months and travel through the West during July and August. Incidentally, I am a bit of a farmer, as I raise Indian corn in Central Illinois, Kaffir corn in the Panhandle of Texas, hay in the Teton Basin of Idaho, and wheat near Champion, Alberta. Some of these ventures pay and some do not, but they furnish me with an interesting avocation for my declining years. My health is excellent, and I am as happy as a mere bachelor has any lawful right to be. Married	Geneva Downs, Newark, N. J., Sept. 17, 1891 (died Jan. 19, 1911).

Children	Ethel, Aug. 4, 1901.
Business	Geologist and Associate Professor of Geology at Harvard University.
Address	(home) 44 Avon Hill St., Cambridge, Mass. (business) Harvard Geological Museum, Cambridge, Mass.

On returning from South America at the beginning of 1909, I was plunged into a sea of cares by the continued serious illness of my wife and the failing health of my father. He died in September, 1910, and my wife passed away in January, 1911. In the spring of 1911, I was reappointed Assistant Professor of Geology at the University for one year. In the following year this appointment was changed by the Corporation to Associate Professor of Geology without limit of time. Since 1911, I have given a great deal of attention to the earthquake station which I asked to have established at Harvard. This has grown in connection with the International Seismological Bureau to be a much larger task than I supposed it would be. During the summer vacations, I have, except for the season of 1913, conducted the Harvard Summer School of Geology in Montana on the Sayles foundation. In 1913, I attended the International Congress of Geologists in Canada, taking part in the excursion through the maritime provinces (Quebec to Gashe, Nova Scotia, Cape Breton, and New Brunswick). At the same time, for the first time in my life in Cambridge I ventured to purchase a home and am now amusing myself with the responsibilities of ownership of real estate in Massachusetts. Aside from my lectures on geology, my conferences with students, and my writing of geological screeds, my geological work and travels in various regions bring a constant stream of letters and inquiries which take up much time that otherwise would be devoted to scribbling memoirs. In September, 1913, I had a mild attack of broncho-pneumonia which unfitted me for work until about December 1st. Outside of University affairs, was elected Counsellor of Geological Society of America, for two years ending December, 1912; director Seismological

Society of America, and in June, 1913, 3d vice-president of that Society. Incidentally have been interested in proposed Pan-American Scientific Congress and in getting United States Government to meet its obligations in regard to this Latin-American official movement. I have written: Numerous notes, reviews, articles, memoirs, and monographs. Fellow Geological Society of America, (F. G. S. A.); Fellow American Academy of Arts and Sciences, of Boston; Fellow American Association for the Advancement of Science, Member in Congrès Géologique International, Member of the American Seismological Society, Member of Boston Society of Natural History, Corresponding Member National Geographic Society, Hon. Member Harvard Natural History Society, Member Harvard Club of Boston.

I am still in the Legal Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. I have just returned from a very interesting and not altogether uneventful trip to the Panama Canal and to the ports of Cartagena, Savanilla and Santa Maria in the United States of Colombia, South America, on the good ship Almirante of the United Fruit Company. Shortly before leaving Santa Marta on the return trip word was received by wireless that the Vanderbilt yacht Warrior was aground off Cape Augusta at the mouth of the Magdalena River, about thirty-five miles distant, and calls for immediate assistance were being sent out. Preceded by a smaller steamer of the same company called the Frutera our ship also went to the rescue. At daylight the yacht was seen to be lying in the breakers in an exposed position, and each ship sent out a boat to take off the owner's party and crew if possible. The other ship's boat capsized in the seas, but the crew were picked up with difficulty by our boats' crew who returned them to their ship. Later when the sea went down, our boat went alongside the yacht and took off Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt, the Duke and Duchess of Manchester and Lord Falconer, including a private secretary and two maids and two valets. The entire party was brought back to New York, by the Almirante. The sailors and captain decided not to abandon the yacht and they were afterwards rescued by a wrecking tug. I came back with the feeling that Uncle Sam had made good on the canal. Incidentally, I learned to my satisfaction that I was a good sailor by not missing or losing any meals. I hope to be able to attend the twentieth anniversary of the class of '94. When I left college in 1892, I formed, with others, a corporation to conduct the business of manufacturing shoes, name of corporation N. D. Dodge and Bliss Company. I was elected treasurer and later general manager. The business of this corporation was continuous up to 1907, when we became the Bliss and Perry Company, under which name we have operated successfully up to the present time. My department has always been the financial end, and that of general manager. I have taken time to participate in some public matters. I assisted others in organizing the Newburyport Choral Union, and for its entire period of existence, thirteen years, served as treasurer of that organization. I have been a member of the Newburyport Board of Water Commissioners for over twelve years, and for part of that time have served as Chairman of the Board. I am connected as director and trustee with two of the banking institutions of our city, also president of the Newburyport Fish Cold Storage Company, trustee of the Newburyport Factory Building Association, trustee of the Putnam Free School Fund, director of the Young Men's Christian Association and Associated Charities. Last, but not least, I am president of the Newburyport Civic League, having served in that capacity for eight years.

Died	April 13, 1911.

Raymond Wilbur Carr was born at Port Jervis, New York, July 15, 1869, the son of Lewis Eleazer Carr and Ruth Duke Carr. He attended the public schools at Port Jervis, St. Paul's School at Garden City, L. I., and the private school of Charles E. Fish at Worcester, Mass., entering Harvard College from there. He remained in college two years, and then entered the office of his father, Lewis E. Carr, at Port Jervis, N. Y., as a law student. He subsequently attended the Albany Law School, from which he was graduated in the class of 1894, being admitted to practice that same year. After his admission he took the position of attorney for the Delaware and Hudson Company, in the office of his father, then Resident Counsel of that company at Albany, N. Y. He continued to act in that capacity until his death, which occurred April 13th, 1911, following an attack of pneumonia. He is survived by his wife, Henrietta D. Carr, and two children, Raymond Lewis Carr and Frances Blandina Carr, and a brother, Lewis E. Carr, Jr., also a member of the Class of 1894, and his father, Lewis E. Carr.

After that I settled in Atlanta, becoming second vice-president of the Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills, and am now living in this city.

EDWARD LYMAN EUSTIS

Born	Portland, Me., Oct. 31, 1871.
Parents	John Tappan, Anne Eliza (Towne) Eustis.
School	Portland High School, Portland, Me.
Years in College	1890-1892; 1894-1895.
Degrees	A.B. (University of Colorado), 1896.
Married	Anna Van Stone, Toledo, Ohio, Dec. 21, 1898.
Business	Clergyman.
Address	Kenilworth, Ill.

Left college at the end of the Sophomore year, but returned and took Junior year in '94-95. I then went to Colorado to care for my brother Carroll Francis Eustis of Harvard '96, who died in Colorado in January '96. Remaining in Colorado for some years, I was ordained a priest in the Episcopal Church, and had charge of a parish at Santa Fé for two years. In September, 1901, I was appointed assistant to Dean Hart, and Curate of the Cathedral at Denver, later becoming Secretary and Registrar of the Diocese of Colorado, also a member of the Cathedral Chapter, and Vice-President of the Diocesan and School Commission. June 10, 1906, was appointed Rector of St. Peter's Church, Cambridge. Became a director of the Cambridge Associated Charities in 1908. While in Cambridge, I took the lectures of the Senior year at the Episcopal Theological School. My expectation of receiving their degree was disappointed by the loss of my notes in transit for which I am now suing the Express Company. In order to secure the most favorable restorative conditions for my wife after a serious breakdown in her health, I accepted the Parish of St. Paul's Church, Nantucket and was repaid by the restoration of my wife to health and strength, after remaining there three years. In Nantucket I was a member of the School Board, and as President of the Trustees of the Nantucket Cottage Hospital Corporation, promoted the project of a hospital and saw this accomplished before leaving. A hospital property was bought and a Visiting Nurse secured for work in the town. Becoming attached to the place, I bought a house and hope to spend my summers there, where the bathing and the golf are unexcelled, and the sea-breezes perpetual. In September, 1913, I accepted a call to the Church of the Holy Comforter in what its residents claim is the most beautiful village in the Country, Kenilworth, Ill., a North Shore suburb of Chicago. Member: University Club, Chicago; Shokie Country Club, North Shore Golf Club.

	(business) 1401 Union Trust Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The chief thing to be added to the old report is the birth of my second daughter. In other respects, there is nothing extraordinary to record. Through my activity in the Ohio Municipal League, I suppose, I have had the privilege of drafting and assisting in the drafting of a number of the amendments to the Ohio Constitution, ratified by the people in 1912. I also "point with pride" to quite a number of the newer Ohio Statutes which are of my handiwork, notably the new Ohio Liquor License Law. The latter sets up to be the latest word, and the most scientifically worked out of modern License Laws. I have published magazine articles on political subjects. Member: City Club, Chamber of Commerce, University Club, Lesantiville Country Club (all of Cincinnati), National Municipal League, Ohio Municipal League, American Bar Association, Ohio State Bar Association, Cincinnati Bar Association, American Political Science Association, Harvard Law School Association.

Business	Photographer.
Address	(home) 64 Otis St., Newtonville, Mass.
	(business) Box 43, Newtonville, Mass.

Though always interested in Botany, I have spent more time on it in the last three years than before. I have passed many days in the less explored parts of southeastern Massachusetts, usually in company with one or two friends; and we have found previously unknown stations for a considerable number of plants, some of them rare. One, a Sagittaria, when found August 3, 1911, had apparently not been found before in New England. In the spring of 1912, I spent two months, from late March to the last of May, collecting in southern Florida. Member: Appalachian Mountain Club, Boston Scientific Society, Bristol County Academy of Sciences, Brookline Bird Club, New England Botanical Club, Society for the Preservation of National Parks (Eastern Branch).

Children	An adopted daughter, my niece by blood, being a deceased younger brother's child, Aug. 16, 1899.
Address	479 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

Since my last report, I have enjoyed having appendicitis and the usual operation for it. I was evidently born to die of some other disease. My good friend, Dr. Balch not only removed my appendix, but cured me thereby of former indigestions, and sick headaches, from which I suffered greatly for many years. This all happened in January, 1912. I have been out West two or three times, and have lost money in mining projects, due principally to misplaced confidence in over-confident mining men who "could get rich if they only had my money." They did not get rich—neither did I. My father died at the age of 77, in April, 1906, on the 50th Anniversary of my parents' wedding. I am now quietly earning my living practising medicine with genito-urinary and skin diseases as specialties. Occasionally I see a '94 man, and he always looks good to me. Member: Sigma Alpha Epsilon, The Masons, Harvard Union, Massachusetts Medical Society, American Medical Association.

The receipt of Rand's letter enclosing forms and requests for information has started the train of thought backward and, while at first the five year interval since the last report was made out seems but a short one, in trying to cover the amount of track backward in order to pick up the threads of the narrative the space lengthens out indefinitely. The expert work mentioned in the last few lines of Report for 1909, was finished on the first of April of that date. Then I went to the National Electric Light Association in New York as Executive Secretary to look after the preparations for their convention to be held in Atlantic City. This work being successfully accomplished, I left them on July 1st to go with the Brooklyn Edison Company. This was a decided change of work, inasmuch as I now went into the commercial side of the business entirely, the engineering being dropped. Two very happy years were spent in helping to develop the commercial work and learning much along these lines. In the mean time, in far off Canada events were brewing which were to have a decided influence on my business career. The municipal ownership and socialistic ideas were obtaining a great hold in Ontario and culminated in the establishment by the Province of a Hydro-electric Commission which went into the business of supplying electricity to Ontario in competition with the private corporations. The city of Toronto, the second largest city in Canada, was picked out as the particular city in which to make the big fight between public and private ownership. Mr. W. W. Freeman, then Vice-President of the Brooklyn Edison and also President of the National Electric Light Association in response to a request from Toronto, picked me to go up there and conduct the commercial fight against the municipal company for the Toronto Electric Light Company. Then followed two years of strenuous competition and glorious fighting, in which we not only held our own, but forged ahead and showed that aggressive, efficient and economical private ownership could win over municipally operated public utilities (even when backed by state as well as civic credit, unlimited legal assistance and questionable bookkeeping) with perfect certainty, not only in business but in everything else, even our hockey team for the two years putting it over the representatives of the Hydro-Electric. As a result of this work the position of Manager of the Electric Commercial Department for the Union Gas and Electric Company in Cincinnati was offered to me and accepted in February, 1913, and I am now just finishing the first year of the hardest uphill fight that I have ever tackled. Member: American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, National Electric Light Association, Society of Mayflower Descendants, Associate Member United States Naval Institute, United States Naval Engineers, Boston Athletic Association, University Club of Toronto, University Club of Cincinnati, Business Men's Club of Cincinnati, Arts and Letters Club of Toronto, Harvard Club of Toronto (President 1912-1913), Harvard Club of Cincinnati.

I am still continuing along in my special lines of eye, ear, nose, and throat and have succeeded in making a fairly good living. I have been made some years ago one of two attending Aural surgeons to our large Essex County Isolation Hospital, also consulting Aurist to our local Mountainside Hospital. I have quit going to my earlier Hopatcong summer home and have a very decent place at Long Beach, L. I., which is far more convenient. I've been a "Teddy" man through thick and thin, and should be glad to see him have still more political and civil honors. Have not been traveling much of late years; I let my wife and children do it for me. I have written: Many monographs on my specialties, viz., eye, ear, nose, and throat. Member: Harvard Club of New Jersey, Harvard Club of New York, New York Academy of Medicine, Alumni Society of Harlem Hospital, Associated Physicians of Montclair, N. J.; Clinical Society of Mountainside Hospital, New York and New Jersey County and State Societies, American Medical Association.

The many activities incident to the practice of the specialty of Nervous and Mental Diseases, including, as it does here, teaching, investigation, hospital and clinical work, and, in addition, activities of a civic kind, which the larger development of medicine implies, have taken up the most of my time. I have published a number of papers, which have appeared in the journals especially devoted to my own specialty. I have also written some chapters in two text-books relating to Neurology. In June, 1913, I received the appointment of Associate in Neurology at the Washington University Medical School of St. Louis. I have been connected in the capacity of Visiting, or Consulting, Neurologist to the city institutions, but since the appointment of last June, I have been compelled to devote my time almost exclusively to the group of institutions connected with Washington University. Apart from the particular subjects which Neurology includes, I have been greatly interested in the purely social and economical relations, in reference to diseases of the nervous system. I have made some studies of the effect of various trades and occupations upon the causation of nervous diseases, and have published some of the results. I spent last summer in London, studying at the National Hospital, an institution devoted to the care and investigation of diseases of the nervous system. Member: The St. Louis City Club, Westwood Country Club and the University Club, The American Neurological Association and other Societies of a strictly professional kind.

GEORGE FULTON TAYLOR

Born	Jersey City, N. J., Jan. 3, 1871.
Parents	James Spaulding, Henrietta (Wilkins) Taylor.
School	Manning High School, Ipswich, Mass.
Years in College	1890-1891.
Degrees	D.D.S. (Philadelphia Dental College), 1895.
Married	Jessie Irland Vannan, Carbondale, Pa., Dec. 11, 1895.
Children	Eleanor, March 19, 1898.
Business	Dentist.
Address	Paseo de Recoletos 21, Madrid, Spain.

Received degree of D.D.S. at Philadelphia Dental College in 1895, began to practise dentistry in firm of Porter and Taylor, Salem, Mass. In 1904, I was bitten by the Wanderlust bug, and came to Madrid, Spain, where I have practised ever since. Spain is a most interesting country in which to motor, as there are so many things of historical interest and the roads are reasonably good, despite all stories to the contrary.

Was taken sick in July, 1913, and for six months was unable to do any work. I then accepted a position with the Worcester Evening Post, covering fires and other outside work that gave me day work and am still on the job. Member: Spanish War Veterans.

WILLIAM SCOTT WADSWORTH

Born	San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 29, 1868.
Parents	Charles, Jane (Locke) Wadsworth.
School	Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.
Years in College	1887-1891; 1893-1894.
Degrees	M.D. (University of Pennsylvania), 1897.

Married	Francis E. Diel, Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 4, 1910.
Children	Jane, Sept. 28, 1913.
Address	(home) 207 South 45th St., Philadelphia, Pa. (business) 604 City Hall and 207 S. 45th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

After taking the medical degree I continued as assistant in Physiology, and became resident Pathologist at the Presbyterian Hospital at Philadelphia, building up a clinical laboratory and an X-ray plant, and having charge of a ward of soldiers during the Spanish War. In 1899, I was appointed Coroner's Physician of Philadelphia, which position I still hold. Enrolled in the militia, serving as private in the Hospital Corps, and substitute surgeon, in the Second Troop, Philadelphia City Cavalry. I went through three years, including the great coal strike, where we were on duty for eight weeks at the mines. I was elected Second Lieutenant in the Second Regiment Infantry; then First Lieutenant; then appointed Battalion Adjutant; and then regimental inspector of rifle practice for several years, and shooting with the teams, taking active part in various functions and duties connected with the militia of the state; also at times in various rifle clubs. After five years as inspector of rifle practice, was made regimental commissary, and for three years we had the best rating for commissary work in the state. Was sent to Texas to the camp at San Antonio, when trouble first theatened in Mexico. At the end of ten years as a commissioned officer, I applied to be put on the retired list, where I am now. Medically, I have been seriously active, talking to various bodies in and about Philadelphia, and taking part in many discussions, reading papers. Have belonged to the County Medical, State Medical, and American Medical Organizations; the Medical Jurisprudence Society, the Philadelphia Pathological Society, the Philadelphia Medical Club, and the Philadelphia College of Physicians, the oldest and most famous organization of its kind in America, with a magnificent professional library. Of social clubs

I belong to the University Club of Philadelphia; the West Philadelphia Republican Club; the Philobiblon Club, a real booklovers' club; the Order of Founders and Patriots of America, in which order I have been for two years Governor of the State Society, and for a similar period Treasurer-General of the order. Am a Mason, a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, of Alpha Mu Pi Omega Medical Fraternity and of the Military Order of Foreign Wars. I have changed my amusements considerably since getting married, giving up the horse for an auto, dropping militia, staying home nights to make faces at the baby and write a book. Still write papers and talk to Medical Societies, and am getting deeper in the toils as a medico-legal expert. Worst of all, I have at last consented to play bridge.

Address	(home) 245 Duglas Place, Portland, Ore. (business) 907 Journal Building, Portland, Ore.

Some great man says; Boston is a fine place to emigrate from. Gives a picturesque background for anything you may want to do. Any peculiarities you may have are put down to the fact that you once lived in Boston. Consequently I have enjoyed the last ten years in Portland, Oregon, very much indeed. I have written thirty medical articles in the last seventeen years. Member: American Medical Association, Oregon State Medical Society, Portland City and County Medical Society, University Club, Waverly Country Club, Arlington Club, American Association of Genito-Uninary Surgeons, North Pacific Surgical Association, American College of Surgeons.

REPORTS OF CLASS MEETINGS

COMMENCEMENT.

Stoughton No. 23 has been open to the Class on Commencement Days, and light refreshments have been served. Holden Chapel will be used for this purpose as the Vicennial Celebration.

THE QUINDECENNIAL CELEBRATION, 1909.

The Secretary had intended to publish a special volume on this celebration, like that which chronicled our Decennial. The book would have contained a witty history of the affair, written by Dyer and Knapp, Hubbell's poem and Hill's "Quindecennial Cake-Walk." Alas, the funds were not forthcoming at the time, and now that the bloom of freshness has faded from the great events, it has seemed best to the Committee in charge of the Vicennial to devote its resources rather to making new history than to registering the past. The poem, being brief, can be slipped in here. The History will be published, if funds permit, in one of the issues of the Bulletin. The following account is the merest outline of our celebration.

Thursday, June 24.—The class met for a stand-up luncheon at Hotel Victoria, which was used as headquarters during the celebration. After the luncheon we proceeded in special cars to the Yale game.

Friday, June 25.—We joined the other classes in the march to the Stadium and exercises there.

Saturday, June 26 was Wellesley Day. Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Williams invited us, our wives and our families to the beautiful Hunnewell estate in Wellesley. Land and water sports, rare trees and orchids, cool retreats and pleasant walks, welcome refreshments and the radiant hospitality of our entertainers made the day memorable for us all.

Monday, June 28.—The Class assembled at Hotel Victoria at 9 A. M., proceeding to Otis Wharf and thence to Nahant. The day was spent at the Nahant Club in various diversions. At 5 P. M. a special steamer took us to Point Shirley for a fish dinner, and, not too late, returned us to Otis Wharf.

Tuesday, June 29.—The day was spent at the Brookline Country Club with the Class of '99. We vanquished them in baseball (both hard and soft), tennis, debating, and above all, in an obstacle race, in which '94 came away with a fair and tender prize.

At 6.15 a business meeting of the Class was held at Hotel Somerset before the Quindecennial Dinner. L. Davis presided. E. Tuckerman moved the appointment of a Class Treasurer, to form with the Class Committee and the Class Secretary, an Executive Committee for the Class. Carried. Tuckerman nominated for the position of Class Treasurer thus created, G. C. Lee. There were no other nominations. Tuckerman moved the election of Mr. Lee, and the motion was unanimously carried. R. Homans spoke of the life and character of J. H. Morgan, recently deceased. It was moved and carried that the Secretary write letters expressing the sympathy of the Class to the families of J. H. Morgan, R. J. Forsythe, J. M. Kagan, F. L. Tufts. Moved that a vote of thanks be extended to the Quindecennial Committee for its services in connection with the Celebration. Carried. Meeting adjourned at 7 P. M.

E. K. Rand, Secretary.

There followed the Quindecennial Dinner. L. Davis introduced E. K. Rand, as toastmaster. The event of the evening was the speech of Sydney Williams in acknowledgement of the clock presented to him as Chairman of the Quindecennial Committee. In addition to the clock, Williams received an honorary A.M., the diploma bearing the following inscription.

SYDNEY MESSER WILLIAMS

In urbe argentarium occupatum, ruri praediorum amoenorum dominum et hospitem admirandum, libelli faceti alacrem

editorem, Classis praeclarae Feriis Quindecennialibus praepositum

ANIMORUM MAGISTRUM

nos anni MDCCCLXXXXIIII baccalaurei hic potantes creamus.

Datum in aula Aestatis Cadentis
prid. Init. Harv. MDCCCCVIII

This is intended to mean:

"In the city, a busy financier; in the country, lord of a beautiful estate and an admirable host; in charge of the Quindecennial celebration of a great class."

Hubbell sent on a poem and E. B. Hill played a "Quindecennial Cake-Walk," a work composed by him for the occasion. The toastmaster called on a number of speakers, presenting them all with honorary degrees. The list of speakers with their subjects, the wording of their degrees and a rendering into Latin, here follows:

B. S. Waters, "Ninety-Four." "Eminent lawyer, brief speaker, rushing his class to glory, now as on those fields of yore. (Causidicum famosum, oratorem longum, nunc ut antea per campos illos, Classem ad gloriam rapientem)."

R. Homans, "Rhapsody." Degree already given by Terence: Homans sum, humani nil a me alienum puto.

E. Tuckerman, "Informal Optimism." "Plain American citizen; the darling of Royalty; the Benjamin Franklin of the Bar. (Simplicem civem Americanum; Reginae delicias; in potionibus Herculem)."

J. D. Hubbell, Poem. "Soldier; cow-boy; farmer; now, like Virgil, leaving the farm for poetry. (Militem gloriosum; bovimulgum; alterum Maronem, qui ad carmina scribenda aratrum male deseruit)."

E. B. Hill, "Quindecennial Cake-Walk." "Lover of ancient melody; perfecter of modern harmony; singing the praises of a glorious Class. (Antiquorum melodiarum furem, huius temporis bomborum raucorum imitatorem, Classis gloriosae laudes canentem)."

H. C. Dyer, "Fifteen Years After." "Supporter of a

comic paper in perilous times; redolent of the latest jokes, though now a sober lawyer. (Labelli faceti iam debilis paene exstinctorem; antiquissimos iocos redolentem, nunc tamen causidicum siccum).''

G. B. Wilson, ''Bulkeley Wells.'' ''Residing at Dedham; mining at Searchlight; one of the swiftest and one of the bravest members of our Class. (Sub sole oriente habitantem; sub occidente operibus naturalibus fungentem; huius Classis inter celerrimos atque fortissimos).''

C. T. Bond was also booked for a speech on ''The Sunny South,'' but unfortunately he had to leave the Class before getting his degree.

In the course of the proceedings, the Secretary read a telegram from Christchurch, New Zealand, bearing the message ''Many happy days, dear old Classmates'' and signed Beals.

Wednesday, June 30.—Commencement Day exercises. The Class gathered as usual in Stoughton 23.

Hubbell's poem follows:

FOR THE '94 QUINDECENNIAL DINNER.

Classmates, men of '94, this honor is sublime,
That I am privileged to give my muse an airing at this time.
All lack of humor or ability pray charge unto senility,
And hear with due tranquillity this Quindecennial rhyme.

In the far-off year 394 before the Christian dawn,
Corinthians began their war with Phil of Macedon.
The next known anniversary, was hundred ninety-four A.D.
Severus then, an Emperor he—held Roman might in pawn.

Three more '94s are prominent in ancient history,
Found in the centuries 4th and 8th and 9th respectively.
The 4th for Theodosius Great, in the 8th Charles 1st held a Council of state,
In the 9th Rome suffered the conquered's fate by Arnulf of Germany.

Three hundred years later, an English king, he of the lion heart
Being ransomed from prison and come to his own, tried to wipe France off the chart.
In 1294 that meddlesome man Boniface 8th, surnamed Cajetan,
Rejoiced in the death of Kublai Khan, from whom the Moguls start.

The next '94 gives us a Pope, by married men admired,
Though after-dinner bachelors are by Benedict inspired.
Do you think the discoverer should be blamed, if a hundred years later Columbus named
A beautiful Island yet unclaimed Jamaica, if he desired?

Thus do the dark and distant years their wealth historic pour,
The anniversaries of our class their share of honor bore,
But show me, upon th' historic stage, renowned by prelate, knight or sage
One half so great or sublime an age as 1894.

* * * * *

When Pilgrim fathers, outward bound, were hunting for a dock,
And failing such convenience, did land upon a rock,
When terrified indigenes were quaking in their naked knees,
A brave thus scattered to the breeze the terrors of his flock.

"Be quiet, Massachusetts' sons, cease your unseemly roar,
Those steeple-crownéd gentlemen now landing on our shore
A college in our midst will found, whence will arise a class renowned,
When Harvard's glory will be crowned, in 1894."

Thus did a sachem prophesy what's really come to pass,
Thus were the Pilgrim fathers saved from butchery en masse,

Thus were they allowed to pave the path of glory without the grave,
When a Plymouth red-skin kindly gave advance news of our class.

From Cambridge, England, and the hall of old Emmanuel, Translated, meaning "God be with us," as Hebrew students
tell,
Came Harvard's John, so justly dear to alumni honored far and near
Of men, who'd rather die than hear the sound of Harvard's knell.

And as we're proud to be Harvard men and honor John Harvard's name,
So do we honor the faculty from whom our training came.
Oh Shaler and Norton! of equals few, to you and to others
our thanks accrue
But most of all is honor due Charles William Eliot's name.

* * * * *

Now let me mention one for whom a lamb aversion feels,
One who should be memorialized for promptitude at meals,
Who demonstrated euthanasia to the wooly tribes of Australasia,
For your pluck and grit we'll always praise you, good luck to old Bus Beals.

When Dreadnoughts and Invincibles are rushed by Germany,
When England gets a battleship from every colony,
How comfortable for us to say, "We have no fear, we have Barbey,
And he can make us any day, full masters of the sea."

They say he's lost full twenty pound, and hoarse as a fog-horn he,
From crying, "Come boys, give up your coin to the treasurer,
that's me."

Do you think that the office at 44 State, will appreciate as real-estate
From the hoarding of curreney coming in late? How about that Georgie Lee?

I'm bound to believe that to '94 and her cheer there's something due,
When Yale went to sticks over brother Hicks, we rattled the lads in blue.
And oh! the sight of that winning run, when McLaughlin
drove in Aronson,
But remember, the fun has just begun, for we'll do the same to the crew.

Ye men of Boston have surely shown that yours is a favored city,
Seventeen men had charge of the class, and everyone on a committee.
Syd Williams, perhaps you're not to blame, though on every thing else I see your name,
No committee on bachelors seems a shame, I agree with Lou
Hall it's a pity.

No more do we read of that gambler Sully, in fact he's completely forgotten,
Since one our number's now spending his time in the manipulation of cotton.
Captain for years of a '94 team, they say he can juggle two bales like a dream,
At Phil Gardner's name the boll-weevils scream, "Oh! why was I ever begotten?"

Speaking of brokers, there's one of note, his stock we've always taken.
Financial depressions and panics have found him not nerveless, but calmly unshaken.
Be careful tonight that no water he drinks; at one time the doctors forbade it methinks
That his cineture might take to itself a few kinks. Here's to you, old friend Louis Bacon.

Why is it the "Queen and Crescent" road has never an accident?
Why does Illinois Central stock hold up so many per-cent?
Simply inquire of Dudley Short, he of the virulent versatile sort
Who claims that railroading isn't his "forte," for a bond-broker he was meant.

Call out the guard, here comes the man who every paper tells,
Like the dove of peace, can ride unscathed through the midst of strikers' hells,
With clank of sabre and spur on boot. There's a man in Telluride to shoot;
Call out the guard and give salute to Gen. Bulkely Wells.

Baseball player of wide renown, strong man histrionic,
Later, shining in civil life with lore amphyctionic,
"For popularity not a d——n do I give, it's all a hollow sham
And a bore," quoth H. A. Frothingham, "and yet a wholesome tonic."

The songs break out with Taylor to guide, till they touch the topmost rafter,
The hours pass and so does the glass, its contents charged with laughter.
Drs. Williams, Davis, Cabot, May, and another for every other day,
For the cure of a swollen head who'll pay, upon the morning after?

Sartorially immaculate, of the old Beau Brummel strain,
Marquis of Queensbury's right-hand man in a pugilistic vein,
Noted among his constituents for his subtle square-deal influence,
At the coming Hague peace-conference look out for Daniel Lane.

I'm glad I'm a Quindecennial, I'm proud as proud can be,
I love to blend my foggy tones with Morgan's melody,
To send my silly cares to the rear, to have my old friends treat to beer,
To see Bert Waters lead a cheer. "Take her up bow-four,"
said he.

The trumpet of fame rings loud and clear, and we answer
her clarion call,
Stetson, Whitney, Eustis, Sharpe, Rouillard, D.D.'s all, Mackie and Spooner, men of the knife, Lowell and Sherwin causing strife
To be settled in law at the cost of your life, by Homans or Saltonstall.

In life we generally blow our own trump, or even charter a band
To proclaim to the world if we've done a good deed, or offered a helping hand.
All praise to the man who tells us the A-Bs and Cs of our doings, our "has-beens" and "maybes,"
God bless him, he even keeps track of our babies; we honor our E. K. Rand.

In a few days, men, we'll be scattered afar, each to his given place,
And five years hence, we shall look in vain for some well-remembered face.
None knows who'll next be with that host who started so bravely from the post.
Join me tonight in a silent toast to the men who have run their race.

Oh, Jimmies and Bobbies and Henrys and Dicks and Berties
and Toms galore,
Glad times and sad times we've had to our fill; the future is pregnant with more.

May we always say, "Was there ever so fine a reunion as that of 19-0-9?"
But the best of it all, it's yours and its mine, is the spirit
of '94.

Boys, I am coming down the stretch, the tape's almost in sight,
Though I haven't spoken to everyone, it's no intended slight.
My excuse to such is, "It might have been worse;" the others can do no more than curse.
Your leave I beg for one more verse, then to you all goodnight.

Men of Harvard, classmates all, glad were the years that bore
Knowledge slowly ripening, garnered for memory's store.
Gladder the years of struggle and strain when, as men, we've sought a name to gain,
Granting us license to give full rein to the praise of '94.

Classmates, tonight let us forget that soon we'll be two score
Years old; and as we're boys once more, full bumpers let us pour,
Knowing, as we our glasses drain to the toast "God speed till we meet again,"
Howe'er we've lived, 'twas not in vain that we lived in '94.

COMMENCEMENT DINNER.

June 29, 1910.

The dinner was held at Brookline Country Club on the evening of Commencement Day—an undesirable innovation, in the Secretary's opinion, although the dinner itself was most enjoyable. Carl Keller was in fine form as toastmaster. He read several fake letters from former toastmasters—Davis, Dresser, Homans and Rand—in answer to various questions he purported to have asked, namely:

Why were you appointed toastmaster? Did you use any high finance methods, or were you a last resort? Were you a success? If the answer to this question is "Yes," is it based on your own opinion, or that of the Class? What did they do to you after the dinner? How did you make your escape?

The speakers selected by Keller with their subjects were W. C. Stone, "How I have succeeded in fooling the people so long"; L. I. Prouty, "How you do it"; A. von W. Leslie, "How it feels to teach the young idea how to shoot"; D. A. Ellis, "The lighter side of being a School Committeeman"; A. Boyden, "Why I have failed to be a success at the bar"; E. K. Rand, "How it feels to be a full professor." There were also several interlocutors who were rewarded with an invitation to speak, particularly L. M. Hall, who had come on to advertise a brand of paint called Rabok.

COMMENCEMENT DINNER

June 27, 1911.

Forty-five (45) members of the Class met on the evening before Commencement (June 27) for one of its most successful dinners. A. Boyden was toastmaster, and guided the feast in admirable style. After George Lee had presented, with some reservations, his report as Treasurer, speeches were made in the following order:

Rand on "Great Deeds of Some Illustrious Men"; Sydney Williams on "Shyness and Multiplication"; Boos on "Coca-cola"; Ford (J. M. D.) on "Queer Doings of the Harvard Faculty"; Keller on "Ambidextrous Ratiocination"; Homans on "Catching Trains"; Washburn on "License."

These speeches were interspersed with songs rendered by the following artists: Boyden, "Sweet Adeline"; Whittier, "Yip I Addy I Ay"; Garland, appearing for Harry Lauder, "My Highland Lassie"; Magrath, "sweet singer from the Grove Street Morgue," who appeared rather late in the evening, "Rings on my Fingers." Needless to say, though the tunes of these melodies were preserved, the words were in most cases, specially adapted for the Class of 1894. One feature of the evening will be long remembered: the performance of Doc Lowell on the cornet-à-piston.

COMMENCEMENT REUNION.

June 19, 1912.

Subscription Dinnr, Hotel Westminter, June 19, 1912. 46 Members of the Class present. Dr. G. B. Magrath acted as toastmaster. His first toast was to E. K. Rand, our absent Secretary, whose health was drunk with great enthusiasm. E. B. Bishop reported the presentation to Rand upon his departure for Europe of a traveling bag from the Class with an appropriate poem from the pen of E. Tuckerman. Tuck's poem and Rand's poetic reply were read. It was voted to send a cable of good wishes to Rand and a committee was appointed for this purpose, also a telegram of congratulation to J. D. Hubbell.

The following speeches were made: B. G. Waters, "Associated Harvard Club meeting in N. Y."; G. M. Cushing, "What Waters couldn't remember about the meeting in N. Y."; C. T. Keller, "Harvard Club of Boston"; Hugh Cabot, "Present Tendencies in the Medical Profession"; Alfred Bettman, "Harvard Spirit in the Middle West"; J. C. Sharp, "Class Spirit"; E. P. Saltonstall, "Tendencies in the Law, with anecdotes." A very successful and sober dinner closed with the singing of "Fair Harvard."

L. Davis, Secretary pro tem

March 29, 1913.

An informal class dinner was held at the Exchange Club in Boston on Saturday, March 29, 1913. About two hundred letters had been sent to members in February in and around Boston, inquiring if they would be interested in a dinner and of the replies about seventy men wrote that they would be pleased to come. About one hundred letters were sent to men in and around New York notifying them that the dinner would take place and about sixty men replied showing their interest in the same but invariably stating their inability to come to it. As the day approached about ten men sent word they could not come and about fifteen men for whom seats were assigned failed to attend. Others, however, came unexpectedly so that of seventy assigned places fifty-eight were filled. Quite a number of fellows met in the afternoon at the Club-house and enjoyed playing Bridge and talking things over. Lincoln Davis introduced Robert Homans as toastmaster and the '94 song of W. C. Bailey was sung, also a song by Sharp. G. M. Cushing, Secretary pro tem. stated a few facts regarding the class and read a letter from E. K. Rand, Secretary, which the latter sent from Italy. Besides a speech from Homans on the question of college publicity, speeches were made by H. C. Lakin on New York '94 men, by Bailey on the medical profession, by Minton, Ellis and Bishop on political questions, and by Borden on the new school of business administration and its relation to business affairs. Keller spoke also. Sydney Williams read an amusing poem written for the occasion. The men present seemed much interested in getting together once more and dinner broke up about eleven o'clock after the singing of a number of familiar songs.

George M. Cushing,
Secretary pro tem.

June 16, 1913.

On this date some fifty men met by instalments, coming either by train or automobile, and prepared for the sporting events in spite of the weather being intensely hot. A baseball game between '94 and '96 was soon underway and '94 made a number of runs under the leadership of René Paine and made an easy victory over '96. Later '94, with fresh recruits, beat '95 also. Meanwhile a number of men gathered in the shooting boxes for the shooting of clay pigeons. A team of '94 men was formed by Borden, Lewis D. Hill, Whittier and Hugh Williams and they competed against a four of the best '96 shooters and quite successfully, as it turned out, beating the '96 class by a score of about 50 to 40 out of one hundred shell shot (at) by each class at different and uncertain angles. Hill proved to be high man with a score of twenty out of twenty-five. Likewise at the tug-of-war the worthy men of '94 pulled like Trojans of old with the mighty Waters to encourage them to do their very best. So the afternoon passed on with about one hundred fellows in all to wander about the pretty club grounds and exchange experiences of the past and present. All were ready for supper at seven o'clock and the band of the 8th Regiment under the leadership of C. F. Lyman '96 and later of R. E. Morse '96 and also assisted by F. L. Lowell '94 with his musical cornet gave us all much entertainment.

COMMENCEMENT REUNION.

Stoughton Hall 23.

June 19, 1913.

As published in the Boston newspapers a business meeting was called at the Commencement Reunion in Stoughton 23 at 12.30 o'clock.

Cushing, as Secretary pro tem., stated that it had been suggested to have a meeting this year on Commencement Day because there had not been any formal meeting during the year. The dinner in March had been an informal one, and the reuuion at Braintree had been particularly informal. It seemed proper, therefore, to get together and make a few reports to the Class. Cushing therefore spoke of Rand's recent letter from Europe which stated his return in a few months and he reported that there were a number of classmates whose deaths did not appear in the class reports. The following men, therefore, should be reported as having died.

Morris Baker	P. H. DeMauriac	E. C. Roché
T. J. Cushing	G. Metcalf	H. G. Spooner
J. G. K. Lee	P. S. Johnson	A. H. Whitridge

George C. Lee made a report of the financial standing of the Class and upon motion it was voted to accept his Treasurer's report and have the same placed on the Class files. Lee also spoke of the importance of having all the men think of how the Class should celebrate its twentieth anniversary in 1914. He suggested that Lincoln Davis, as Chairman of the Class Committee, should have authority to enlarge the number of the Class Committee during the coming year for the purpose of getting sufficient assistance to arrange the twentieth anniversary. He also kindly suggested that his residence at Westwood was at the disposal of the Class in case the Class would like to go there on one day of Commencement week. Upon motion it was voted to authorize Lincoln Davis to choose such men and as many as he thought best to make up a Twentieth Anniversary Committee. Upon motion it was voted to accept with many thanks Lee's kind offer to invite the Class to his residence at Westwood on one of the days of Commencement week. After some informal discussion about how the men should be encouraged to communicate any ideas and suggestions they might have about events for the Twentieth Anniversary it was upon motion voted to adjourn.

George M. Cushing, Secretary pro tem.
